MR. MALLET

Milbert C. Mallett, A. M.

Sympathetic with us in solving our problems, wise in counsel, happy in our successes, interested in us as individuals, generous in his understanding of the viewpoint of youth—these terms characterize our principal. May the class of 1930 show its deep feeling of gratitude by being sons and daughters of Farmington Normal, of whom he may be proud.

Greeting

THE class of nineteen hundred thirty takes great pleasure in presenting this EFFESSENESS to the students, teachers, friends and Alumni of Farmington State Normal School.

The Board that had the pleasure of preparing this edition of EFFESSENESS will feel that its earnest efforts have been well rewarded if this book serves as a reminder of happy days passed at our Normal School.

The Faculty

WE wish to express our deep gratitude to the members of the faculty for their inspiring influence during our stay at Normal. As the years go by may we show by our lives that we have profited by our association with these good friends.

ALLEY, ELIZABETH C.
Purington Hall

Southport, Maine
E. M. C. S.

" BETTY "

Hiking Club, '28; Gym Exhibition, '28; House Committee, '28;
C. A., '30; Christmas Festival, '30.

*"A sweet little maid with eyes of blue,
A friend worth having, a friend that's true;
That's Betty Alley."*

You may be sure Betty is full of cheer and is always right on the spot for her share of fun as well as eats. We all wish you the best of success in your chosen career. Betty, when you get tired of teaching, just "Tell it to the Marines". Maybe some won't understand this but we do, don't we?

AMBROSE, EDNA VIRGINIA
South Hall

Springvale, Maine
Sanford High School
Sub-primary, Training School

" EDDIE "

Gym Exhibition, '29; Christmas Folk Festival, '30; C. A., '29, '30; Dramatics Club, '29, '30; House Committee, '29; Editorial Board, '30.

Eddie and Gerry, Moran and Mac Proctor and Gamble — one never hears of one without the other. Above all Eddie likes to sleep; she is willing to any time. Her other weakness is Canfield. Here is a girl with a never failing sense of humor and a gay, loving disposition? What more could be desired?

ANDERSON, RESPA
The Willows

Gardiner, Maine
Ricker Classical Institute

C. A., '30.

If you want a thing done and done right, call Respa. She is always so jolly too, agrees with everyone or at least keeps her disapproval to herself. We are so glad you came to Farmington for your last year at Normal instead of returning to Presque Isle.

ARRINGTON, RUTH M.
Purington Hall

Appleton, Maine
Union High School

C. A., '29; Girls' A. A., '29; Gorham Game Committee; Proctor; Summer Session, '25, '26, '27.

*"Very conscientious but full of fun,
A good friend and a true one."*

Ruth is inclined to be quiet and reserved but when you know her, she is the jolliest friend ever. We know that she will be successful in whatever she undertakes.

AVERY, HILDA MAE
South Hall

Winthrop, Maine-
Winthrop High School
Sub-primary, Training School

Gym Exhibition, '29.

Hilda, the girl who lives for week-ends in Winthrop. She tries so nobly to conceal her art of entertaining but can well enough. The inmates of South Hall know where to find entertainment. Hilda's impersonations are too good to be soon forgotten. Winthrop is a good place, Hilda. Good luck to you.

BAILEY, LETHA E.

China, Maine-
Oak Grove Seminary

"BERTHA"

We greatly fear that Bertha will never be a rich woman. She has one great passion that will consume her cash and wreck her career, that is — her liking for ICE CREAM.

BANKS, ALICE
The Willows

Belfast, Maine-
Crosby High School
Grades 7 and 8, Training School

"MIALICE"

A. A., '30; C. A., '30.

"Aim at the highest."

Her ambition is to be an ideal school teacher. It is quite doubtful as to whether she will remain in the teaching profession long. What about Mark?

BARKER, T. DOUGLAS
Milliken Hall

Milo, Maine-
Milo High School

"DOUG"

Student Council; C. A., '29; Tennis Club, '30; Gym Exhibition, '29; Choral, '29; S. O. S. Broadcast, '29; Treas. Tennis Club, '30; S. O. S. Member; Tennis Team, '29, '30.

Doug, that winning smile of yours won't be forgotten easily. It has been our pleasure to have you with us and we know that wherever you go that personality plus will be your greatest asset.

BAXTER, EVELYN M.
Purington Hall

Malden, Mass.
Malden High School
Grade 4, Fairbanks

"EVIE"

C. A., '29, '30; Junior Cabinet, '29; Senior Cabinet, '30; Hiking Club, '29; A. A., '30; Gym Exhibition, '29; Christmas Festival, '30; School Orchestra, '29, '30; Tennis Club; House President, '30.

That she is an artist her sketches show,
How come she to be so wise —
The lass with the litho-fantastis toe
And lightly laughing eyes?
A dearer treasure far, than gold
Because we know she's true.

BEAN, FRANCES R.
South Hall

Skowhegan, Maine
Skowhegan High School
Sub-Primary, Training School

"FRAN", "BEAN-O"

C. A., '29, '30.

"Little, but oh my."

Singing and dancing and happy all day,
Fran's the one to drive the blues away.
Her cheer, in the future, we can plainly tell
Will be reserved for no other than —.

Did I get a letter? Fran's same old question each time the mail arrives. We wish you the best of success and health and happiness in the future.

BEEDE, BARBARA CALDEN
The Willows

South Paris, Maine
South Paris High School
Primary Grades, West Farmington
"BARB"

C. A., '29, '30; Junior Cabinet, '29; Hiking Club, '29, '30; Choral Society, '29, '30; Proctor, '29; Basketball, '29, '30; Chairman of Girls' A. A., '30; Willows Play, '30; Gym Exhibition, '29; Hockey, '29.

"Ever looking upward to a tall man."

Always laughing whenever you see her — that is Barb. If you ever see Barb you will not see Helen so far away.

BICKFORD, BEATRICE B.
Purington Hall

Auburn, Maine
Edward Little High School

"BEA"

Choral, '29, '30; Tennis Club, '29, '30; C. A., '29, '30; Devotional Committee, '30; Gym Exhibition, '29; Proctor, '29; House Secretary, '30.

"Happy I am, from care I am free,
Why aren't they all contented like me?"

Then we hear her chattering gaily and see the hidden gleam of roguish eyes in one that is like precious metal, all refined, and whose worth is surpassed by none.

BLACK, WILENA
Lakewood Ave.

Bailey Island, Maine
Portland High School
Lower Grades, West Farmington

"BILL"

C. A., '28, '30; A. A., '30; Tennis Club, '29; Gym Exhibition, '29.

"She was tall and blonde and fair—"

We don't need to go to the movies to see Esther Ralston with Bill in our class. If you are hunting for a true blue sport you won't find one better than Bill and have you ever noticed that roguish twinkle in her eyes? If true friendship can insure success in life may yours always attend you.

BLACKMORE, MARJORIE THELMA
South Hall

Rumford, Maine
Stephens High School
Upper Grades, Town School

C. A., '30; Gym Exhibition, '30; Christmas Festival, '30; A. A., '30; Invitation Committee.

*First it was "Lcs"
Then it was "Phil",
Next it was "Bab",
Now it is "Bill".*

We believe you consider variety the spice of life. Wishing you success in all your undertakings.

BONNEY, DORA A.
South Hall

Lewiston, Maine
Canton High School
Grade 1, Training School

"DODO"

C. A., '26; Hiking Club, '26; Soangetaha Campfire, '26; C. O. D. Club, '30.

"Such a one as any would wish to know."

A supposedly quiet girl but just get acquainted with her. She is full of fun and a good sport. We only wish that you could have been with us two years, Dora.

BRADSTREET, CLORA M.
Purington Hall

Albion, Maine
Besse High School
Grades 3 and 4, Town School

"CLO"

C. A., '30; Girls' A. A., '30.

*"When you are lonesome and blue
And don't know what to do
Go see Cla, she is the one—
Good hearted and full of fun."*

We wonder why Clora is looking so pale lately? We think it is because she is so nervous sleeping with her door unlocked along with dieting. Well, Clora, never mind, we wish you the best of success.

BRIGGS, INEZ M.
Purington Hall

West Paris, Maine
West Paris High School
Grades 3 and 4, Town School

C. A., '30.

Although you have been with us only one year you have made many friends. Your mind seems to be free from worry. Yet when we see a far away look in your eyes we wonder if you are thinking of Don?

BUCK, WINIFRED L.
South Hall

Gardiner, Maine
Gardiner High School
Upper Grades, West Farmington

"WINNIE"

"The friendship between you and me I will not compare to a chain; for that rains might rust, or the falling tree might break."

No matter whether it is about the hardest lesson in psychology, or the easiest example in arithmetic that you want to know; just ask Winnie. We will never forget the girl who gained many friends through her little kindnesses to everyone. Best of luck and happiness.

BROOKS, BLANDINE C.
Purington Hall

Rangeley, Maine
Rangeley High School

"DEMP"

C. A., '29, '30; A. A., '30; Gym Exhibition.

"Her shining virtue — modesty."

Blandine hails from Rangeley, the place of all good things. She is always looking forward to week-ends. Perhaps it is because she is sure of hearing three blasts from the flivver horn. As a teacher she is sure to be a success.

BROWN, EVELYN GERTRUDE
Purington Hall

Augusta, Maine
Cony High School
Grades 5 and 6, Training School

"BUDDY," "EVIE"

C. A., '29, '30; Junior Cabinet, '29; Membership Committee, '30; Gym Exhibition, '29; Hiking Club, '29; Girls' A. A., '30.

*"It's nice to be natural
When you are naturally nice."*

Buddy believes in taking bumps with a smile and always comes bobbing up with a grin. She is as generous and kind hearted as they make them, and there isn't anything too much for her to do for a friend. She gives her whole self to whatever she does and whatever she does is a success.

BUNKER, CLARA

Bangor, Maine
Bangor High School
Grades 7 and 8, Training School

C. A., '29, '30; Cabinet Committee, '30; Gym Exhibition, '29;
Hiking Club, '29, '30; A. A., '30; Interclass Hockey, '29;
Dramatic Club, '30; "Mice and Men"; House Committee
Proctor, '30; "Apple Blossom Time".

"A willing heart lightens work."

Clara is one who is always willing to help. Whether her voice be heard in class or from third floor it is quite safe to conclude that all will leave their slumbers and things will move. She has certainly been a worthwhile classmate. We feel sure she has learned to improve her spare time.

BURNHAM, NINA ALBERTA
Perkins Street

North Jay, Maine
Wilton Academy

"NINE"

A. A., '30; Tennis Club, '30; Hiking Club, '30.

"Laugh and the world laughs with you."

We wonder why Nina is overjoyed? I know why it is — She has heard from Floyd. Never mind, Nina, we all like to get letters and as far as the sender is concerned we don't blame you. We all wish you the highest success as a teacher.

BURR, PHEBE
Purington Hall

Rumford, Maine
Stephens High School

"PHEBE"

Hiking Club, '29; Gym Exhibition, '29; House Committee, '29;
C. A., '29, '30; Tennis Club, '29, '30.

"Judge her not by her length."

Who is that cute little girl with the blonde boyish bob and the nice blue eyes? We are certainly going to miss you. Best of luck.

BUSHLEY, MARGARET L.
The Willows

Rumford, Maine
Stephens High School
Grades 5 and 6, Town School

"PEGGY"

"Laugh and the world laughs with you."

Peggy is a good friend and a true one. One mannerism we do hope she will never adopt — chewing gum. Because, you see, we all remember how Melvina chewed gum in "Apple Blossom Time".

BUTCHER, EMILY MADORA Lisbon Falls, Maine
South Hall Lisbon Falls High School
Lower Grades, Town School

"EM"

C. A., '30; Gym Exhibition, '29; Christmas Festival, '30;
A. A., '30.

*"A pretty maiden, sweet and pert,
I'm almost certain she likes to flirt."*

We see you have given up wearing bobby pins and seem to prefer the company of small and sweet people. We wish you success, Em, in all your future undertakings be they marital or professional.

BUTTERFIELD, EDITH B. Pittsfield, Maine
South Hall Kingfield High School
Grades 1 and 2, Training School

C. A., '30; Hiking Club, '29, '30; Gym Exhibition, '29; House President, '30; Modern Authors Club, '30; C. O. D. Club, '30.

"A friend in need is a friend indeed."

One of our studious girls who can always be depended upon to lend a helping hand. We can tell by her determination here that success will always be hers. Our best wishes accompany her wherever she may go.

CARLSON, MARY Brownville Jct., Maine
The Willows Brownville Jct. High School

"MAC"

Hiking Club, '28, '29; Gym Exhibition.

Mary's cheerful spirit and pleasant smile make her always welcome wherever she goes.

CARTER, ELENA Etna, Maine
Purington Hall Newport High School

"DOT"

C. A., '28, '29, '30; Hiking Club, '28, '29; Gym Exhibition, '28; House Committee, '30; B Hop Committee, '30; Tennis Club, '28, '29.

*"More than wisdom, more than wealth,
A merry heart that laughs at care."*

In the three quarters you have been with us, Dot, we have discovered in you a real friend. We notice you have a particular leaning toward our drummer. However, a successful teaching career has been assured you.

CATES, MIRIAM B.
South Hall

Vassalboro, Maine
Oak Grove Seminary
Upper Grades, Farmington Falls

"MIM"

C. A., '29, '30; Hiking Club, '29; Field Hockey, '29; Gym Exhibition, '29; Tennis Club, '29; Christmas Festival, '30; House Committee, '30; Girls' A. A., '30.

Miriam says her life is an open book but we notice that some of the pages are stuck together. We hope it has a happy ending. "Be prepared" is Mim's motto and we all know she lives up to it. We never think of Mim but what we think of this oft repeated phrase, "Got any more chocolate bars?"

CHADBOURNE, GERTRUDE A.
South Hall

Newport, Maine
Newport High School
Grades 1 and 2, Model School

"TRUDY"

C. A., '29, '30; Choral Society, '30; Fellowship Committee, '30; Basketball, '29; Gym Exhibition, '29.

Trudy certainly has a wonderful personality. One could guess by the number and the length of letters she receives from Northeastern. We are all wondering how she finds time to answer them. Has she any interests in Farmington? Ask her.

CHAMBERLIN, BERNICE ALICE
Purington Hall

Clinton, Maine
Clinton High School

"BERNIECIA"

Girls' Athletic Association, '30; Christian Association, '30.

If we want a picture or a paper to read we just go in room 45 because we know Bunny has them. Bunny is full of fun and a good friend to all. Good luck to you.

CHAMBERLIN, FRANCES A.
Purington Hall

Clinton, Maine
Clinton High School

"FRANKIE"

Hiking Club, '26; C. A., '30; A. A., '30.

Frances is another one of the Chamberlin sisters, you know. We hope that she gets a large paying position so that she can go abroad; especially to visit Norway, from where she has been receiving Knightly letters.

CHAMBERLIN, HARRIET M.
Purington Hall

Clinton, Maine
Clinton High School

"HI-HAT"

C. A., '29, '30; Hiking Club, '29; Girls' A. A., '30; Gym Exhibition, '29; Field Hockey, '29.

Harriet is very conscientious and her work is always done to perfection. We would not think of having a party without Hi-Hat. We hope she gets a position that appeals to her. When you get tired of teaching, Harriet, we all hope you will find a man that appeals to you or else be an appealing old maid.

CHASE, RUTH JANE
Purington Hall

Brooks, Maine
Brooks High School
Grades 3 and 4, Town School

"RUFUS"

C. A., '30; A. A., '30.

"The world delights in sunny people."

Although you have been with us only one year you have made many friends. Your cheerful disposition has endeared you to our hearts. If you are a specimen of what Brooks produces we will welcome more like you. In the profession of teaching—You're sure to win fame—Unless you decide—To change your name.

CHASE, MILDRED
South Hall

Skowhegan, Maine
Skowhegan High School

C. A., '29, '30; Gym Exhibition, '29.

Mildred, may you ever meet success at every turn of life's road. We are sure you will because we know the ability and perseverance you have shown all during your course with us is an example of your capabilities. There is no summit you may not attain; No worthy purpose you cannot achieve.

CHRISTIE, WARENA
The Willows

Milo, Maine
Milo High School
Grades 5 and 6, Town School

C. A., '29, '30; Hiking Club, '29; Gym Exhibition; A. A., '30; C. A.; Cabinet Committee; House President; "Apple Blossom Time".

*"The joy of this world when you have summed it all up,
Is found in the making of friends."*

Warena has certainly made many friends with her ever ready smile. In spite of her sh-h's everyone likes to see her coming. We hope they will be more effective next year than on third this year. Here's to your success.

CHURCHILL, MARION E. North New Portland, Maine
South Hall Anson Academy

Grades 1 and 2, Town School

C. A., '27, '30; Gym Exhibition, '27; Modern Authors Club, '29, '30.

If you're wanting some help
When you're sad and you're blue,
If you're wanting a friend
Who will be square and true too,
If you're wanting a teacher
For grades one and two
Then I'll take you to Marion,
She's the right one for you.

CLARK, REGINALD S. Franklin, Maine
Franklin High School

"REGGIE"

C. A. Cabinet, '28, '29; Chairman of Membership Committee, '29, '30; C. A. Representative to Poland Springs, '30; B Hop Committee; Student Council, '29, '30.

"Still waters run deep."

Reggie, we feel we do not know you as well as we should. Anyway as much as we do know we like you lots. One so cheerful and serious is certain to succeed.

CONDON, GLADYS Augusta, Maine
South Hall Cony High School

"GLAD"

"A hermit soul living withdrawn in a place of self content."

Glad seems to be bored with about everything here but we may be wrong about this. In spite of this we are sure that she will make a fine school teacher and we wish her the best of luck in everything she attempts.

CONY, FAITH CARLYLE Augusta, Maine
South Hall Cony High School

Grades 3 and 4, Model School

Gym Exhibition, '29; Folk Festival, '30; Dramatics Club, '29; Modern Authors Club, '29; Vice President of Modern Authors Club; Dramatic Editor of Year Book; House Committee, '29.

Faith came to us two years ago from that flourishing metropolis on the seething Kennebec. She is always eager to help in any crisis, and tries to put the best foot forward. Her keen sense of humor has helped to enliven many a boring class and we shall miss her. Best of luck, Faith.

CONY, VELMA M.
Purington Hall

Oxford, Maine
Oxford High School

"VELMA"

A. A., '30; Hiking Club, '30.

If silence is golden
And such things are true
Then you have a fortune,
Velma, coming to you.

CRANDELL, CATHERINE
Purington Hall

Derby, Maine
Milo High School
Grades 7 and 8, Model School

"KIT"

C. A., '29, '30; Tennis Club, '29; House Committee, '29; A. A., '30; Hiking Club, '29, '30; Gym Exhibition, '29.

"Be carefree as the day is long."

Kit is always very optimistic and she possesses the valuable asset of meeting everything with a smile. Last year Kit could holler louder than the rest of the bunch, but this year she seems to have settled down to her profession. Best of luck at B. U.

CRONKITE, CLAYTON R.

Skowhegan, Maine
Skowhegan High School
Grades 7 and 8, Model School

"CRONK"

C. A., '29; F Club, '29, '30; Tennis Club, '29, '30; Tennis Team, '29, '30; Reserve Basketball Team, '29, '30; Gym Exhibition, '29.

Between your studies and athletics we wonder what you do with all your spare time. Oh now we have it—those "Daly" visits to South Hall.

CULLETON, JEAN M.
Court Street

The Forks, Maine
West Forks High School

"G-G," "HI GENE," "BUD"

C. A., '29, '30; Dramatics Club, '30; "Mice and Men"; Gorham Game Committee.

Remember, G-G, early to bed and early to rise save many a squeak, peek and sigh. Days may be FLAT and days may be Sharp.

CUSHMAN, RUTH MADLYN
Purington Hall

South Paris, Maine
West Paris High School
Grades 3 and 4, Model School

"CUSH"

C. A., '30; Girls' A. A., '30.

"It is not good for man to be alone."

Ruth, although you have been with us but one year you have made many friends. We know you are very studious but there is one thing that makes you forget your books and that is when Cush calls up. We don't blame you, however, having seen him. We wonder if you intend to make teaching a life profession or an experimental pastime. Whichever it may be, we wish you the very best of luck.

DALY, EDNA
South Hall

Gardiner, Maine
Gardiner High School
Grades 3 and 4, Town School

"ED"

C. A., '29; Dramatic Club, '29, '30; Hiking, '29; Gym Exhibition; Tennis Club, '30.

To the best of room mates —

Ed is a girl who goes with a steady,
Nevertheless her subjects are ready,
Whatever she tries she does with great vim.
In her teaching career we know she will win.

DAVIS, ERMA CELIA
The Willows

Athens, Maine
Somerset Academy

"ERMIE"

Gym Exhibition; Folk Festival, '30.

"She is pretty to walk with, witty to talk with, and pleasant, too, to think on."

Maybe a great many more people think this about her than we know. If one were to list her interests it would be a long list, but then why should any girl specialize? Good luck to you, Ermie. We are sure success awaits just around the corner.

DEARBORN, SADIE MARGUERITE
Purington Hall

Corinna, Maine
Corinna Union Academy
Grade 2

C. A., '29, '30; Hiking Club, '29; A. A., '30; Gym Exhibition.

"It is the quiet workman who succeeds."

If through the world you are searching
For a friend that's kind and true,
If you see a grin, that's Sadie,
She's always a word for you.

DELANO, RUTH H.
South Hall

Lincoln, Maine

Grades 5 and 6, Town School

"DEL"

C. A., '29, '30; Gym Exhibition; C. O. D., '30; A. A., '30.

"Smile and the World smiles with you."

Here we have the girl who is always smiling yet prefers Grey days. We wish you the best of luck, Del, and we know you will succeed.

DILL, LUCILLE I.
The Lodge

Dixfield, Maine
Dixfield High School

"CINDY"

Cindy, what's this we hear about sending Jonquils to Lewiston? Some things seem rather mysterious, we must admit, especially when we think of "holding down street corners on cold, windy nights." Alone? We wonder.

DUNHAM, ESTHER J.
Purinton Hall

Oakland, Maine
Dixfield High School
Upper Grades, Farmington Falls

"ESTY," "EJ"

C. A., '29, '30; Hiking Club, '29; Gym Exhibition, '29; Choral Society.

*"A task seems never very long
If measured with a smile or song."*

List to the music through the corridors flowing,
Pause from our work in wonderment, knowing
That Esther, our friend, as she plays sweet melodies,
Enjoys to the utmost talking to keys.

FENWICK, CARL H.

Bar Harbor, Maine
B. H. H. S.

"FEN"

Varsity Basketball, '29, '30; S. O. S., '30; C. A., '29, '30; F. Club, '29, '30.

Where gettest thou that way with girls?
A gift, O Carl, your way so winning,
You've changed your taste of late we see,
In lady friends especially—
'Twas blondes in the beginning!

C. A., '29, '30; Hiking Club; Gym Exhibition; D Hop Committee; Girls' A. A.; S. H. Basketball team; Assistant Local Editor of Year Book; B. Hop Committee; Interclass B. B. team; Cheer Leader; Hockey.

"Down on your knees and thank God fasting for a good man's love."

Peggy is a girl who is everywhere at once, making folks happy with her cheerful countenance and winning ways. Whenever any one is blue Peggy is summoned to clear away the gray clouds. May you be as cheery throughout your life as you have been here.

FRENCH, FRANCES
The Willows

North Anson, Maine
Anson Academy
Grade 1, Training School

Gym Exhibition, '29; Modern Authors Club, '30; Interclass Basketball, '29; Hockey, '30; A. A., '30; Willows Play, '30.

*We're sure her merry eyes assert,
She's very much inclined to flirt.*

When she's awake — but well we know her weakness — sleep. Where ever she's found you'll find fun. Let us advise you — don't change your disposition for the wealth of kings.

FROST, SUSIE

"SUSIE"

Hiking Club, '29, '30; Gym Exhibition; Choral Society, '30; Modern Authors, '30; Dramatic Club, '30; C. A., '30; "Mice and Men".

*What miss is that with short brown hair,
With grave grey eyes and face so fair,
Who graces South Hall?
So studious, brisk, and bound for the right,
Making her grade with all her might?
'Tis Susie, admired by all.*

GAGNE, THEODORE L.

"TED"

C. A., '29, '30; Varsity Baseball, '29; Reserve Basketball, '29, '30; S. O. S., '30; Choral Society, '29, '30; Gym Exhibition, '29.

Ted is a good little athlete in spite of his diminutive size. He shone on the basketball floor this year and also in baseball last spring. We wish him the best of luck in whatever career he may follow.

GAMMON, C. LOUISE
Purington Hall

Buckfield, Maine
Buckfield High School

C. A., '30; Girls' A. A., '30; Summer Sessions, '27, '28, '29.

We wonder if Louise should have taken the Home Economics course? Collecting recipes seems to be her favorite "hobby". We might make a few prophecies about her future, but time will tell. Good luck, Louise.

"GINA"

Basketball, '29; Tennis Club, '29; Gym Exhibition; Modern Authors Club; Hockey, '30; Literary Editor of Year Book; Willows Play; A. A., '30.

Her eyes of blue, her golden locks,
Why just the way she walks and talks,
Anyone would know she was full of fun.
We'll surely miss her when she's done.

Who is it that successfully manages our affairs from literary editor to the best way to spend the week-end? Where ever you find Gina you find good times and plenty of excitement. If you do not believe it ask anyone at school.

"MAX"

C. A., '29, '30; Hiking Club, '29, '30; Gorham Game Committee; "B" Hop Committee; A. A., '29, '30; Folk Festival; Proctor; Gym Exhibition; Tennis Club.

"She scattered sunshine along the way."

Max is one of our class babies and isn't she cute? Those baby blue eyes can twinkle as do the stars and her pretty head can bob so graciously that she is irresistible. Her favorite expression — Have I a letter? Max can trip the light fantastic to perfection. She is very popular of course.

GRAHAM, RUTH C.
Purington Hall

Brunswick, Maine
Oak Grove Seminary
Grade 1, Model School

C. A., '29, '30; Hiking Club; Gym Exhibition; A. A., '30.

For shame, writers of Scotch jokes, we think you have been fooling us for here we have a Scotch lassie who is not the least bit close. Instead of saving her pennies she spends them for chocolate bars and ice cream. Her friends also receive generous portions of her thoughtfulness, love of fun and dry humor. Her favorite song — "I love a Laddie".

"The bigger they are the harder they fall."

This might apply to his big husky roommate but Greg seems to apply this to everything he tackles. We wish him much success.

GROSSE, ELLA J. Searsport, Maine
 South Hall Bangor High School

"JANE"

Girls' A. A.; Hockey; Folk Festival.

Light or dark, short or tall,
 Her popularity is known by all.
 A one track mind for a certain man,
 A happy heart and a willing hand.

HAMMOND, THELMA Strong, Maine
 The Lodge Strong High School

C. A., '29; House President, '30; Gym Exhibition, '29.

"She's rather quiet
 But who can say
 She'll not have the last word
 If it takes all day."

We all knew you were fond of nature study, so we were not surprised to learn that you had become especially fond of "Reeds".

HARRIS, JOANNA Milo, Maine
 Purington Hall Milo High School
 Grades 3 and 4, Model School

"JO"

"It is nice to be natural when you're naturally nice."

This exactly describes Jo. She is another one of those quiet girls whose merits are hidden, but what a good sport she is when the preliminaries are over.

HARRIS, ROBERT BECKLEY
Milliken Hall

Turner, Maine
Leavitt Institute
Bliss College

"BOB", "GENE"

Gym Exhibition, '29, '30.

Bob, although one of our best poets, is essentially a retiring individual. He seems to have a yen for nature study. He enjoys the wide open spaces; is a collector of curiosities and minerals. Among the precious stones with which he is familiar are RUBIES for which he has expressed a fondness. He is an expert mountain climber which no doubt correlates with his nature study.

HASKELL, KATHLEEN
South Hall

Rockland, Maine
Rockland High School

"KITTY"

A. A., '30; Choral Society.

Kitty is one of the dearest in our class. Her ever willing attitude to help has won the hearts of one and all. We wonder why she was so anxious to finish her cedar chest — Just look on a finger of her left hand and perhaps you can read the answer. We understand she does not intend to teach for very long. She has aspirations of changing from a teacher to a "Walker".

HEAL, MALCOLM BARKER
Milliken Hall

Greenville, Maine
Higgins Classical Institute

"MOOCH"

C. A., '29, '30; Gym Exhibition, '29, '30.

Mooch — debonair, cheerful, generous, will long be remembered by his friends at F. S. N. S. Although something of a sheik, he manifested at school many sterling qualities which went a long way toward making up for his weakness for the fair sex. We trust his personality will secure for him the things he most desires in the world, yes, even an exemplification of his favorite color which is HAZEL.

There came into our school one day
A lad of tender age and heart.
The girls adore him too they say;
We trust that long with us he'll stay,
This youth from Maine's fair rocky bay.
May Bob Higgins ne'er depart.

"Should we live to be a million we will never forget her."

"Let Kay Hctor do it" has become the war cry of the class of '30 whether it be making speeches in chapel or leading cheers during games. You will always lead, Kay, and here's wishing you the best of everything through life.

Grades 7 and 8, Town School

"HERMIONE"

C. A., '29, '30; Choral Society, '30; Gym Exhibition, '29; Christmas Festival, '30; Hiking Play, '29; Willows Play.

*"Whatever you do
Do with your might,
Things done by halves
Are never done right."*

We all know this is especially true of Hermione and we feel sure she will be a very successful teacher.

HUTCHINS, LUCILLE
Purington Hall

Corinna, Maine
Corinna Union Academy

C. A., '29, '30; Hiking Club, '29; Gym Exhibition, '29.

"DUD"

Varsity Basketball, '29, '30; S. O. S., '30; Captain Basketball, '30; C. A., '29, '30; Gym Exhibition, '29; Minstrel Show, '29.

Dud was a good basketball man and also shone in other sports which we will not mention. He should have a car or some means of conveyance to take him on his evening walks. The town has proposed to run a bus to Fairbanks for his sole use. He is seriously considering this plan which we hope will have his approval.

"As merry as the day is long."

Betty, we thought you were the one girl in a thousand who disdained to accept the attention of the opposite sex. However, the bulky and numerous letters from Bowdoin have proven beyond a doubt that your man hating attitude is assumed. We wish you to be filled with sunshine and success.

JACKSON, BEATRIX
The Willows

Monson, Maine

"BEE"

C. A., '30; Gym Exhibition, '29; House Committee, '29; Willows Play, '30.

"Good things come in little packages."

They never knew what an actor you were, Bee, until we saw you as Mickey in "Apple Blossom Time". May you always have "Mickey's" cheerful outlook on life.

JOHNSON, ALICE M.
South Street

Farmington, Maine
Farmington High School

"KINTY"

C. A., '30; Choral Society, '29, '30; Gym Exhibition, '29.

"Music hath charms."

We wonder what the "Willowites" will do next year for a piano player? We shall never forget the pleasant times we have had with you as our pianist.

JOHNSON, MARGARET E.
South Hall

Thomaston, Maine
Thomaston High School
Grades 5 and 6, Town School

"PEGGY"

Choral Society, '28, '29; Gym Exhibition; Music Editor of Year Book.

"The greatest pleasure of life is love."

Most of Peggy's thoughts seem to be along Maine lines. We are wondering about a recent week-end and the pin that returned with her. We all wish you success in your profession, but understand you will change it for a different one.

JOHNSON, RUTH BUSHER
Purington Hall

Belfast, Maine
Crosby High School

"RUTHKINS"

C. A., '29, '30; Gym Exhibition; Hiking Club, '29; Wedding of the Sports, '30; House Committee; Folk Festival; A. A., '30; Hockey, '29.

*"We notice you enjoy the company of the radiator,
But in years to come we think it will be the Aviator."*

We wish you best of luck in all your undertakings, Ruth. We hope you will ever cherish the memories of Farmington Normal and when you are tired of teaching remember that aviators have their success, too.

JONES, ALLEN
School Street

Vassalboro, Maine
Waterville High School
Grades 7 and 8, Model School

"JONES"

Choral Society.; Orchestra, '30; Tennis Club; Dramatics Club; C. A., '29, '30.

*"The men the world call lucky
Will tell you every one
That success comes not with wishing,
But by hard work, bravely done."*

No matter when or where you meet Jones he always has the same cheery smile and a hearty hello. Never a day goes by but he does a favor for someone. Allen has quite a little musical ability. We hope that he continues to cultivate his gift.

JONES, VELMA
Purington Hall

Vassalboro, Maine
Erskine Academy
Grade 7, Town School

If hard work will bring success, Velma, we know that you will receive it after your thirty hour programs. Here's the best of luck to you.

KEARNEY, ELEANOR
The Willows

Biddeford, Maine

"ELLY"

C. A., '29, '30; Orchestra; Junior Cabinet; Hiking Club; House Committee, '29; House President, '30; Modern Authors Club, '30; Gym Exhibition; "Apple Blossom Time".

*"A happy smile that cheers us through,
A heart that is of truest blue,
Wondrous tact and judgment too,
That's Eleanor."*

I wonder if Elly will share with us her power of persuasion. I know you will make a successful teacher, Eleanor, if you just talk to the children. Here's to your success.

KEWEZA, ANNE
South Hall

Rumford, Maine
Stephens High School
Grades 5 and 6, West Farmington

"ANNE"

Gorham Game Committee; A. A., '30; Hiking Club, '29; Folk Festival, '30.

Little lassie do not weep
When you're asked to go to sleep.
Like a soldier run along
To your bed to grow up strong.
Little lassie don't be rude
When you're asked to eat your food.
If you'll do what you are told
You will grow up brave and bold
And when you reach Woman's Estate
Hale and strong and straight,
College boys will surely slip
And How!

KING, HAZEL
The Willows

South Paris, Maine
South Paris High School

Hazel is a girl with a winning way;
Laughing and smiling all the day.

LANE, HELEN M.
South Hall

Winslow, Maine
Winslow High School
Red Schoolhouse

"HELEN"

The noon mail once seemed to hold great attractions for Helen, but lately — well, we wonder! We hope he does not feel too bad. Helen, your future seems to lie in the field of art, but we wish you the best of luck whether it be fine or domestic arts.

LANPHER, CELIA JOSEPHINE
Purington Hall

Mt. Desert, Maine
Mt. Desert High School
Sub-primary, Model School

C. A., '29, '30; Hiking Club, '29; A. A., '30; Gym Exhibition.

*"A fling for worry, a laugh at care,
When there's any fun, Celia's right there."*

Is Celia ever serious
Laughing the whole day through;
If it's Math or History or training
She's never tired or blue.

LAURENCE, BERTHA

Bridgewater, Maine
Bridgewater Classical Academy
Lower Grades, Farmington Falls
"B"

C. A., '29, '30; Gym Exhibition; Hiking Club; House Committee, '29; Modern Authors Club, '30; Junior Cabinet, '29.

*"Hoppy, jolly, full of fun,
B, you're certainly just the one."*

We will always retain happy memories of many good times with you. Your many friends wish you success.

LEAVITT, DOROTHY M.
South Hall

West Enfield, Maine

"PAT"

Basketball, '29; Tennis Club, '29; Gym Exhibition; Hockey, '29; Modern Authors Club, '30; Willows Play; A. A., '30.

*"Pat, you're so happy, so carefree, so impishly pert,
But frankly confess it you do like to flirt!"*

Confidentially, Pat, won't you share with us other poor struggling mortals the secret of your charm over all material things? Why is it you have such a complete mastery over every phase of everything from history to music and what is more deploring — of these elusive creatures — MEN? Enlighten us is all we ask.

LIBBY, HAROLD E.

Topsham, Maine
Brunswick High School
Grades 7 and 8, Town School

"HAROLD"

Member of Choral Society, '29, '30; Orchestra, '29, '30; Baccalaureate Solo, '30; Secretary and Treasurer of Orchestra, '29; Concert Master, '30; Business Manager of Choral, '30; Dramatics, '30; Organizer and Manager of F. S. N. S. Dance Entertainers, '29; Director of Training School Orchestra, '30; Gym Exhibition, '29; Alpha Sigma Delta.

*"Laughing, jolly, full of fun.
A good friend and a true one."*

Harold, we all know your musical ability and how well you love to work along that line. We are sure your stability, good disposition, and friendly smile will win you success.

LITTLEHALE, ROSE

Purington Hall

Auburn, Maine
Edward Little High School
Grade 8, Town School

"It is a great life if you don't weaken it."

Rose is the worst or the best (at any rate the greatest) practical joker in the school. She doesn't think anything of filling someone's bed with cracker crumbs or dousing someone with water thrown through the transom. However, she has brightened many a dull evening and has often helped to drive care away.

LOON, IRENE V.
South Hall

Winthrop, Maine
Winthrop High School
Upper Grades, Fairbanks

"LOON"

Although she was a mere midget when she came here to school she has gained so much knowledge during the past two years that she is quite a big girl now.

LORD MADELYN S.
South Hall

Searsport, Maine
Searsport High School
Grades 3 and 4, Model School

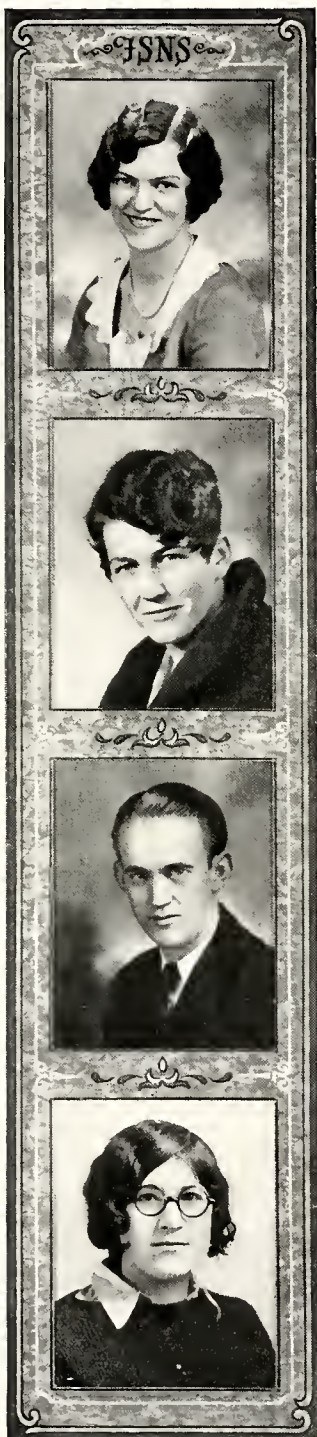

"MADDY"

C. A., '29, '30; Dramatics Club; Gym Exhibition, '29; Proctor.

"Her voice was ever soft."

Maddy does little besides scream and use loud tones when she wants anybody. This idiosyncrasy of hers has puzzled us very much, but since the fact has been disclosed that the noise is usually because she wants something to eat we do not blame her at all. May that appetite continue!

LUFKIN, CLARICE D.
Anson Street

Farmington, Maine
Farmington High School

"CASEY"

Basketball, '29, '30; Hockey, '29; Choral Society; Folk Festival, '30; A. A., '30; Chairman of Decoration Committee of B Hop; Athletic Editor of Year Book.

One reason why some basketball teams have taken an awful beating, why a certain Lightning Firm sends its sun (son) in a one and only way, why there is always a good sport to be found — that's Casey!

LYNN, BEATRICE ELAINE
South Hall

"BEE"

A. A., '30; C. A., '29, '30; Hiking Club, '29, '30; Tennis Club; Gym Exhibition; Folk Festival; Gorham Game Committee, '29, '30; Assistant Manager of Year Book, '30; Hockey, '30; Basketball, '29, '30; B Hop Committee, '30; Cheer Leader; Proctor.

"Short and slender and full of fun, Bee's a friend to every one."

In her future athletics or her journeys to Alaska and Kentucky we're sure she will retain her pep and popularity.

MACNEIL, HARRY L.
Milliken Hall

Derby, Maine
Milo High School
Grade 7, Town School

"McSNUPE"

C. A., '29; Gym Exhibition; Track Team, '29; House President; Tennis Club; Student Council, '30.

"Non fui-fui — Non Sum Non Cura!"

Who is the best fire man in school? It sure isn't Mac as anyone at the Igloo will testify. His favorite expression is, "Now when I climbed poles for the Telegraph Company," and this will be remembered by all in Normal. His detective firm of Mc-Snape and Stupe have solved many a heinous crime at the Igloo. His weakness seems to be a blue-eyed blonde from Berlin, N. H. Between studying, taking Dot for thirty minute walks and writing love letters is it any wonder that we at the Igloo are nearly frozen? Well, here's looking at you, Mac, and best of luck in everything you do.

MAGONI, IRENE D.
Middle Street

Farmington, Maine
Farmington High School
Grades 1 and 2, West Farmington

Gym Exhibition, '29.

"I am Stabbed with laughter."

Here one minute — gone the next. We never know quite what Irene is going to do or say — she's a regular whirl-wind! Irene is full of pep and can she dance? We heard she refused an offer from Ziegfield this fall. — We wonder why?

MARBLE, MILDRED FORSEY
104 Main Street

Haverhill, Mass.
Haverhill High School

"MILLY"

Gym Exhibition, '29; Folk Festival, '30.

Clever as clever as she can be
At talking, at drawing, at writing,
All three.
Unless you look out, you'll not know it at all
For she's so very reserved withal.

MARR, LOUISE HAMPTON
South Hall

Livermore Falls, Maine
Livermore Falls High School

"LOU"

C. A., '29, '30; Gym Exhibition; Hiking Club; Vice President of Hiking Club, '30; A. A., '30; Folk Festival, '29; Tennis Club, '30.

"Still water runs deep with many a ripple below the surface."

Lou, your apparent quietness has not deceived us. We find that something besides books can bring the sparkle to your eyes.
We wish you success in whatever you do.

MAYO, AMY FLORENCE
Elm Cottage

Boothbay Harbor, Maine
Boothbay Harbor High School
Grades 3 and 4, Farmington Falls

"MIMI"

C. A., '29, '30; Hiking Club; A. A., '30; Gym Exhibition, '29;
Folk Festival, '30.

"A merry heart that laughs at care."

That is what Amy has and it makes her a splendid friend.
By its use she keeps us happy during study periods in Merrill
Hall. It will light her way to success, wherever she may be.

MCCORMICK, LOUISE

Gardiner, Maine

Girls' Athletic Association, '30.

It's folks like you that make the rest of us realize that the world is a good place to live in after all. How we envy you with your carefree and happy ways, and treasure your friendship as one of the jewels of our time spent at F. S. N. S. Don't forget those Sunday night walks, Louise; we knew they will have a warm place in your heart. We wish you success and a happy future.

McDONALD, JOSEPHINE ALICE East Millinocket, Maine
South Hall Schenck High School

Grades 5 and 6, Model School

"JO"

House Committee, '29, '30; Secretary, '30; C. A., '30; Hiking Club, '29; Gym Exhibition, '29.

Besides being a good student, Jo is a good reader and a good friend. What more could anyone desire?

McELWEE, OLIVE
The Willows

Houlton, Maine

Houlton High School

Grades 5 and 6, Town School

"OLIVE"

Hiking Club, '29; Gym Exhibition; House Committee, '29, '30; Business Manager of "Apple Blossom Time"; Folk Festival, '30.

"Laugh and the world laughs with you;

Cry and you cry alone;"

But this little girl always has the majority on her side.

Olive has been with us two years and we find her always willing to help a friend in need. Her willingness and cheery smiles have been appreciated by all.

McINNES, MARGARET C.
8 Quebec Street

Rumford, Maine

Stephens High School

"MILLIE"

"Be silent and safe — Silence never betrays you."

In the short time that you have had occasion to be with us we sincerely hope that when you leave us you will have dear memories of Farmington and we wish you success in all your undertakings.

McKEEN, ELEANOR CLAIRE

"Happy-eyed and always gay,

Pat goes on through life this way."

Has she got life? And how! And plenty of it. Where Pat is you will find plenty of enthusiasm. She is a good worker and an actress, too. If you don't believe it just ask someone who saw "Mice and Men".

 Grades 7 and 8, Model School
 "MAC"

Class President, '30; Business Manager of Year Book, '30; C. A., '29, '30; Folk Festival, '30; Gym Exhibition., '29.

*"There's a little fellow with us
 And the girls all like him so!
 I'm speaking of brown-eyed Mac
 Whom the fight fans know as 'Bo'."*

Mac had a girl last year but she left and what was Mac going to do? His kind-hearted room-mate fixed things O. K. And how! Mac is one who is liked by everyone and it is sure they all wish him much success.

MONGILLO, ROSINE Canton, Maine
 South Hall Canton High School
 Grades 5 and 6, Model School
 "ROSIE"

C. A., '29; Modern Authors Club, '29, '30; Secretary and Treasurer of Modern Authors Club; Fair Committee, '29; Hiking Club; President of Hiking Club, '29; Gym Exhibition; House President, '29; C. O. D. Club, '30.

*"Lively, jolly, full of fun,
 A good friend and a true one."*

Rosine as a student teacher takes first prize. As a classmate we wouldn't ask for a finer and truer friend. Our best wishes to go with you to the future where we know you will be a success.

MOORE, CHESLEY W. Skowhegan, Maine
 Middle Street Skowhegan High School

"CHET"

Tennis Club; Choral Society, '30; School Orchestra, '30; Tennis Club, '30.

9 We wonder what the incentive can be that makes a NORMAL boy carry a program with but one spare? The girls will regret your short stay, Chet, but the rewards for your hard work will be many.

MORRISON, GERALDINE
 South Hall Sterns High School
 Grade 2, Model School

"JERRY"

Gym Exhibition, '29; Folk Festival, '30; House Committee, '29, '30; C. A., '29, '30; President of Hiking Club, '30; A. A., '30; Student Council, '30.

There is not one person without at least one redeeming feature — Ask Jerry. We always admire people with the patience of a saint — that is why we all like Jerry. It would be impossible to find a finer F. S. N. S. girl.

MORTON, L. ELIZABETH
2 High Street

Farmington, Maine
Farmington High School
Lower Grades, West Farmington

"BETTY"

C. A., '29, '30; Gym Exhibition, '29; Folk Festival, '30.

"Come one with modest guise, with tender, downcast eyes."

Betty, the incomprehensible, the unfathomable! How few can really claim intimate understanding of her, because Betty is really most aloof! To that select few, however, is revealed the fact that Betty could be and sometimes is most vivacious.

MOTTRAM, RUTH I.
Purington Hall

Old Town, Maine
Old Town High School
Grades 1 and 2, Town School

"TOOTS"

C. A., '29, '30; Gym Exhibition, '29; Junior Cabinet.

Green Jacket! Yes, it is Ruth with her broad and cheery smile. Some say she is quiet but we are inclined to think not. Her interests in Farmington are not confined alone to the Alma Mater. We know her to be interested in Henrys. We're sure they are not Henry Fords. Ruth, we wish you joy and success in the future.

NEWTON, IVANETTA E.
South Hall

Skowhegan, Maine
Skowhegan High School
Upper Grades, West Farmington

"NEWT"

Glee Club, '29, '30; Gym Exhibition, '29; C. A., '29, '30.

What would we do without Newt to make the life of the party? She certainly is the best sport ever. Although she plans to teach next year, we wonder how long it will be before she changes her profession to that of home furnishing??? Those letters from Bridgeport, Conn., speak for themselves.

OAKES, FLORENCE ANNA
R. F. D. 5

Farmington, Maine
Farmington High School

"FLORENCE"

C. A., '30.

Florence is always able and willing to help in all subjects, especially in History.

PATTERSON, CAROLYN A. Augusta, Maine
 Purington Hall Cony High School
 "PAT"

C. A., '30.

"The same yesterday, to-day and to-morrow."

Life would be quiet and dull at times if it wasn't for the cheerful, happy-go-lucky people like Pat.

PAUL, MARITA M. Solon, Maine
 South Hall Solon High School
 Upper Grades, Farmington Falls
 "RITA"

Hiking Club, '29; Gym Exhibition, '29; Junior Cabinet; Orchestra; C. A., '29, '30; C. O. D. Club, '30.

*"More than wisdom, more than wealth:
 A merry heart that laughs at care."*

Marita's fingers are never tired of producing melodies from the piano both for her entertainment and others. We are all sure that Marita's care-free disposition will gain her many friends as at F. S. N. S.

PEARSON, DELMA Charleston, Maine
 The Willows Higgins Classical Institute
 Grades 3 and 4, Town School
 "DEL"

C. A., '29, '30; A. A., '30; Hiking Club; Gym Exhibition; "Apple Blossom Time"; Willows Basketball.

*"We attract hearts by the qualities we display,
 We retain them by the qualities we possess."*

Does anyone possess qualities equal to those of Delma? When anyone needs help in drawing it is "Del, help me with it". Delma is clever, a good friend, always cheerful and dependable. Our best wishes go with you, Delma.

PEASE, HAZEL I. Wilton, Maine
 Wilton Academy
 "HAZEL"

C. A., '30.

"Quiet, industrious, conscientious."

You are fortunate if privileged to call her your friend.

PERKINS, VELMA
3 Perkins Street

Smithfield, Maine
Oakland High School
Grades 7 and 8, Training School

"PERK"

Life is blithsome,
Life is gay,
But for Velma
There's more to say;
Her paintings are marvelous,
Her smiles are the same,
But soon she will leave us,
For "Frank is her 'Aim'".

PERKINS, VIOLA M.

New Sharon, Maine
New Sharon High School
Grades 3 and 4, Town School

"VIKIE"

C. A., '29, '30; Gym Exhibition, '29.

One would think to look at "Vikie" that she was a rather sedate miss, but you would be surprised. What is this we hear about U. of M. and the delightful times at the Alpha Gamma Rho House Parties???

PHILLIPS, DORIS E.
South Hall

Gardiner, Maine
Gardiner High School
Grade 3, Town School

"DOT"

C. A., '29, '30; Gym Exhibition, '29.

Next to Nature she loves Art best. We wonder why "Dot" is so Strong for her Art? She is also partial to curls. Remember the night you were dramatizing and forgot those curls? Good luck, "Dot", wherever you go.

PORTER, VIVIAN C.
9 Lake Avenue

New Sharon, Maine
New Sharon High School

"VIV"

C. A., '29, '30; Gym Exhibition, '30.

"Live to learn."

Yes "Viv" has her Strong points we all know, but she has her weak ones too. Never mind, "Viv" Haines products are best.

PURDY, THELMA
South Hall

Gardiner, Maine
Gardiner High School
Training School

"THEL"

Hiking Club, '29; Gym Exhibition, '29.

Just one of our girls you can hear but never see. She is always acting out but we enjoy it. Whenever we wish a good time we have "Thel" there. We will miss you next year and wish you the best of luck in your teaching career.

RAND, MARY C.

Dixfield, Maine
Dixfield High School

"MARY," "MIKE"

C. A., '29, '30; Gym Exhibition, '29.

*Happy I am, from care I am free,
Why aren't they all contented like me?*

When we see Mary coming we begin to tune up our laugh muscles for we all know that something is going to happen and it usually does. What is this we hear about some little minister? Well, never mind, we are sure that wherever you go the world will give its best to you.

RANDALL, MADELINE
South Hall

Augusta, Maine
Cory High School
Grades 3 and 4, Training School

"MADDY"

C. A., '29, '30; Gym Exhibition, '29; Sketch Club, '29; "B" Hop Committee, '30; Art Editor of EFFESENES, '30.

*"Oh, shy and modest maiden,
The man who wins thee for his own
With honest, bright blue eyes,
Will surely win a prize."*

Those who are not well acquainted with "Maddy" may not know her worth, but we on the third floor surely do. Wish we might often, in years to come, see your smile.

RICHARDS, HELEN B.
Purington Hall

Strong, Maine
Strong High School
Sub-Primary

"RICHY"

C. A., '29, '30; Gym Exhibition, '29; Dramatics Club, '29, '30.

"She is not satisfied with less than the best."

We wonder, Helen, why you came to F. S. N. S. instead of Gorham? We are confident of your success, but will those daily letters make any difference in your profession?

RILEY, MADELINE A.
South Hall

Winthrop, Maine
Winthrop High School

Grades 7 and 8, Training School

"AGGIE"

C. A., '29, '30.

Aggie, we realize that you do have your troubles with English Grammar, but because of your determination, we know that you will rise above this difficulty and will be a noted "Grammarian".

RODERICK, LEONA G.
Quebec Street

Rumford, Maine
Stephens High School
Grades 3 and 4, Town School

"GERT"

Gym Exhibition, '29; Christmas Folk Festival, '29.

We know, Leona, that although you have your troubles, you always try to make the best of them. We hope in the days to come you will do likewise.

RUSSELL, AVIS A.
10 School Street

Farmington, Maine
Farmington High School
Sub-Primary, Training School

"ANGEL"

C. A., '29, '30; Choral Society, '30; Gym Exhibition, '29;
Christmas Festival, '29.

A friend to all,
A friend indeed,
Who answers the call
When there is a need.

Your smile of cheer,
Your pleasing will,
Your happiness, dear—
Will even please Bill.

RUSSELL, PEARL FRANCES
The Willows

Dexter, Maine
N. H. Fay High School
Grades 1 and 2, Town School

"FRAN"

Although you have been with us only a year, your generous, lovable nature has won many friends. A person of such sterling qualities is bound to succeed.

RYDER, EVELYN L. Brooks, Maine
South Hall Brooks High School
Sub-Primary, Training School
"EV"

Girls' A. A., '30; Christmas Folk Festival, '29.

*"Ain't she nice —
Laak her over, once or twice.
Now I ask you confidentially,
Ain't she nice?"*

We all think so. She is the best of pals and friends.

SALMELA, GERTIE North Jay, Maine
South Hall Jay High School
Grades 5 and 6, Town School
"GERTRUDE"

C. A., '29; C. O. D., '30; Gym Exhibition, '29; Christmas Festival, '30.

*"Smile a little, smile a little,
As you go along.
Not alone when life is pleasant,
But also when they're wrong."*

That is just what Gertie does. No matter how things may go she always has her ever ready smile. Nothing can daunt her and those far famed dimples are always in use. May you go through life keeping always that sunny nature which has helped you through F. S. N. S.

SAWYER, ENID Augusta, Maine
Purinton Hall Cony High School
Upper Grades, West Farmington
"ENN"

C. A., '29, '30; Hiking Club, '29; House Committee, '29; Gym Exhibition, '29; Head Monitor, '30.

*"The sun shines East, the sun shines West,
But Enid can't learn whose son shines best."*

Bang, Crash, we know what that is. It is Enid arriving on the scene, just in time for dinner. Why so late? She gives an excuse but we know it is just one of her numerous young men. Let us see, there is Gerry, Rodney, Clifton, Carlton, and Bill. Just at present there is—but we won't say.

SAWYER, RUSSELL Belgrade, Maine
Milliken Hall Belgrade High School
"RUSTY"

C. A., '29, '30; Gym Exhibition, '29; Young People's Club, '29, '30.

Rusty is held in high esteem by all of his classmates because of his character. Whenever there is work to be done Rusty is right there. He seems rather shy in regard to the opposite sex but perhaps he will outgrow that.

SCOTT, WARREN W.
Milliken Hall

North Anson, Maine
Anson Academy

Grades 7 and 8, Training School

"SCOTTY"

C. A., '29; Gym Exhibition, '29; Reserve Basketball, '29; Varsity Basketball, '30; "F" Club, '29, '30; Choral Society, '29, '30; Inter-class Basketball, '29, '30; S. O. S., '30.

"Aux Armes" (Kitty)

Who is that fellow hanging around the Lodge? It is only Scotty waiting for Kitty. Scotty will be remembered long at the Igloo for his steadying influence on the "Reserve" Basketball team. He will also be remembered for his "quiet" and "studious" ways. We all wonder how Scotty finds time for study, when so much of his time is taken up with Kitty and sleep. His favorite expression is—What do we have today? Well, Scotty, may Kitty and good luck be with you always.

SESSIONS, MARYON
The Willows

Rumford, Maine
Stephens High School

Grades 7 and 8, Training School

C. A., '29, '30; Publicity Manager, '30; Gym Exhibition, '29; Modern Authors, '29; A. A., '30.

"Fire and star light rare,
Are tangled in her raven hair."

Two of the rarest gifts of the gods are a sense of humor and a capacity for friendship. These we have found to be only two of Maryon's good qualities. It was indeed a lucky day for us when she decided to come to F. S. N. S.

SHAW, LOUISE
Purington Hall

Milo, Maine
Milo High School

Grades 3 and 4, Town School

"WEEZE"

Hiking Club, '28; Gym Exhibition, '28; C. A., '28, '29; House Committee, '28, '29.

She always makes happiness wherever she goes. Never was there a truer word spoken. Louise is always radiating sunshine if there is none present.

SHERMAN, DORIS H.
South Hall

Houlton, Maine
Ricker Classical Institute
Grades 5 and 6, Town School

"DOT"

C. A., '27, '30; Hiking Club, '27; Gym Exhibition, '29; Girls' A. A., '30; C. O. D. Club, '30.

"Stillness of person and steadiness of features are signal marks of good breeding."

Do you want to know how to do Ed Measures or Arithmetic? Ask Doris. "A's" fly right and left when she is around. She may giggle while she is helping you but that must be overlooked. If you see someone coming with a mischievous grin it's only Dot, the greatest pest on our floor.

SIMPSON, BERNICE C.
Purington Hall

Brunswick, Maine
Brunswick High School
Red Schoolhouse

"BUNNY"

C. A., '29, '30; Hiking Club, '29; Gym Exhibition, '29; A. A., '30; Junior Cabinet, '29; Senior Cabinet, '29; House President, '30; Choral Society, '29; Christmas Folk Festival, '29; Class Treasurer, '30.

*"At all times cheerful, helpful, loving, true,
We shall expect to hear great things of you."*

123, 123, "Get Out and Get Under the Moon." Remember, Bunny? Well, we do. Bunny says that Drawing is hard, but look in the Art room.

SINCLAIR, RUTH B.
South Hall

New Gloucester, Maine
New Gloucester High School
Upper Grades, Fairbanks

"RUFUS"

C. A., '30; Gym Exhibition, '29; Christmas Festival, '30; B Hop Committee, '30.

What would we ever do without your reference books? We hope they wear well, because you promised to will them to one of us. We know that you will be a successful teacher during the "Seven" years which you are going to teach. We hope your conviction, that he will wait, proves true.

SMALL, M. LUCILLE
South Hall

Biddeford, Maine
Biddeford High School
Grade 2, Training School

"LUCE"

C. A., '29, '30; Dramatics Club, '29, '30; Choral Society, '29, '30; Gym Exhibition, '29.

*"Trust this manner shy;
A dancing imp of jolly fun
Lurks in her downcast eye."*

Lucille is a girl who is hard to get acquainted with, but once the barriers are let down, we find a soul full of vivacity and warmth.

SMITH, ANNA
Purington Hall

Bingham, Maine
Oak Grove Seminary
Leland Powers School of Expression

A. A., '30; Proctor, '30; C. A., '30.

Thoughtful and kind to others,
Good-natured, helpful and true,
If anyone deserves good luck, Anna,
We think it is you.

SNELL, ROGER W.
Russell Hall

Madison, Maine
Madison High School

"CHIZZY"

Baseball, '29; Capt. Tennis, '29, '30; Capt. Track, '30; Gym Exhibition, '29; Tennis Club; S. O. S., '30; Track, '29.

Chizzy is a very likeable chap and always has the same cheerful smile. He is a natural born athlete and has a great fondness for the opposite sex — especially "Dot".

SPRAGUE, PHYLLIS
The Willows

Lubec, Maine
Lubec High School
Grades 5 and 6, Town School

"PHIL"

Gym Exhibition, '29; Hiking Club, '29; C. A., '29, '30; A. A., '30.

Tall and slight,
Quiet but nice,
That's Phyllis.

STAPLES, HELEN IRENE
The Willows

Ridgdonville, Maine
Mexico High School
Lower Grades, West Farmington

"HELEN"

C. A., '29, '30; Hiking Club, '29, '30; A. A., '30; Proctor, '29, '30; Vice-President A. A., '30; Girls' B. B., '29, '30; Willows Play, '30; Gym Exhibition, '29; Hockey, '29, '30; Student Council, '30.

*"More than wisdom, more than wealth,
A merry heart that laughs at care."*

Did anyone ever see Helen worried? Always the same — yesterday, today and we hope, tomorrow.

STEVENS, DEBORAH F.
The Lodge

Turner, Maine
Leavitt Institute

"DEBBY," "PAT"

*"Debby is a maiden shy,
Has for the boys a downcast eye,
Would not flirt or have a beau.
Is this true? Perhaps you know."*

When Debby feels like studying, she wants to study, so she is going to have "Sargent" locks put on all the doors to insure freedom from intruders. Whatever Deb does, she takes her time doing. Never mind, Debby, we love you just the same.

ST. PIERRE, ALPHENA
Town

Fort Kent, Maine
Fort Kent High School
Madawaska Training School

"AL"

C. A., '30; Hiking Club, '30; Girls' A. A., '30.

Alphena seems to "have come, seen and conquered". She has made many friends by her captivating smile, with which she meets one. Our best wishes follow you wherever you may go, whether it be South America or elsewhere.

STURGEON, MELISSA MAY
The Willows

Fort Kent, Maine
Fort Kent High School
Madawaska Training School
Grades 5 and 6, Town School

C. A., '30.

Melissa has not been with us long, but yet long enough for us to find out that she is quiet and ready for any fun.

TALBOT, CECILE
Court Street

Biddeford, Maine
Villa Maria, Montreal Uni.
Grades 7 and 8, Training School

"SICILY," "GRAM"

C. A., '29; Hiking Club, '29.

"Aim for the highest."

We all have our favorite songs. Some like jazz, others step up to the classical realm. Cecile likes neither — she sticks firmly to the Christmas "Carols". Never mind, Cecile, in spite of your weakness for "Carols", you will attain high success as a teacher.

THOMAS, DOROTHY L.
South Hall

Vinalhaven, Maine
Vinalhaven High School
Grades 5 and 6, Training School

"DOT"

House Committee, '28, '29; Gym Exhibition, '28; C. A., '29; Girls' A. A., '29.

"I like fun, from care I am free,
Why aren't you all happy like me?"

If you happen to feel blue just call on Dot. With her abundant good humor she always makes us feel better. Now I can understand why she has so many "brothers". Yet I wonder if they are merely brothers. The best of luck to you.

THOMAS, MILDRED A.

Milo, Maine
Guilford High School
Grades 7 and 8, Training School

"MRS. THOMAS"

Always willing and able to help, also to give good advice to classmates.

THURLOW, MARJORIE E.
South Hall

Gardiner, Maine
Gardiner High School
Grades 3 and 4, Training School

"MARGE"

C. A., '29, '30; Hiking Club, '29; Gym Exhibition, '29.

"Less noise in here, please."

Impossible, Marge is having one of her spells again and when she does, the walls of "49" tremble. You have never had a good laugh until you have seen her in one of these specialties. You have always been willing to help, Marge — Good luck.

TIBBETS, ALICE H.
Town

Farmington, Maine
Farmington High School

"ALICE"

C. A., '30.

Alice seems to prove that worry is certainly useless. We wish that we might borrow the recipe for it has stood a good test.

TOFT, MARY ANNE

South Portland, Maine
Lubec High School
Grade 8, Town School

"TOFTSKY"

C. A., '29, '30; Gym Exhibition, '29; House Committee, '30; Head Monitor, '30; Christmas Festival Committee, '30; A. A., '30; Tennis Club, '30.

"It's nice to get up in the morning, but it's nicer to lie in your bed."

Mary can make us believe almost anything until we notice that twinkle. She likes popcorn and sardines, dark curly hair, broad shoulders and narrow waistlines, and preserving that girlish figure. It seems that we have heard something about Lubec, too.

TOWNE, MARJORIE

Dover-Foxcroft, Maine
Milo High School

"MARJ"

C. A., '29, '30; Hiking Club, '29; C. A. Publicity Chairman, '30; Gym Exhibition, '29.

*"Marj is one of the quiet kind,
But when it comes to fun all round,
There's not a jollier one to be found."*

It has been said that the world delights in sunny people. Surely the world delights in Marj's pleasant words and sunny smile. Marj, we will never forget those "artistic" dogs which you used to draw for us in Music class. She claims to be a man hater but her mail doesn't show it.

TOWNSEND, ALICE M.
South HallReadfield, Maine
Winthrop High School
Grades 7 and 8, Fairbanks

"ALICE"

Assistant Joke Editor, '30; Gym Exhibition, '29.

Alice has great ability in making up poetry. If there is any doubt, look in this magazine. You will find two of great interest.

TRASK, HAZEL M.

Sidney, Maine
Belgrade High School
Grades 3 and 4, Training School

"HAZIE"

*"Here's to Hazie;
The pride of number seven."*

Never mind, Hazie, you may find the right one yet. Variety is the spice of life.

TUFTS, MARION I.
The WillowsWilton, Maine
Wilton Academy
Upper Grades, Town School

"MERRY"

Gym Exhibition, '29; C. A., '30.

"A merry heart maketh a merry countenance."

Since she always finds a silver lining, that's what the future holds for her.

TUTTLE, ESTHER
Perkins Street

Norridgewock, Maine
Norridgewock High School
Grade 1, Training School

Christmas Folk Festival, '30; C. A., '30.

*"She was the fairest of the fair,
The gentlest of the kind;
Search ye the wide world everywhere,
Her like ye shall not find."*

Esther's classmates are not the only ones who feel this way about her. We realize that a certain graduate holds this same opinion.

UPHAM, HAZEL I.
South Hall

Lynn, Mass.
Edward Little High School
Grades 5 and 6, Training School

"PEANUTS"

House Committee, '30; C. A., '30; Hiking Club, '29; Gym Exhibition, '29; Tennis Club, '29.

When Hazel moved to Lynn, she almost decided to finish her course at Salem. After much persuasion she returned to F. S. N. S. We are glad that you decided to do this, Hazel, and we all wish you much success.

VINING, CHRISTIE E.
Purinton Hall

Strong, Maine
Strong High School

"CHRIS"

C. A., '29, '30; Girls' A. A., '30; Gym Exhibition, '29.

"Such a one as anyone would wish to know."

Two years at F. S. N. S. have made Chris quite a lady. She is one of those quiet girls who prefers a horse and buggy to a "roadster"???. We feel assured that you will be a great success even though you insist on going home week-ends.

WALKER, LOIS F.
Purinton Hall

Norridgewock, Maine
Norridgewock High School
Grade 1, Training School

C. A., '29, '30; Hiking Club, '29; A. A., '30; Gym Exhibition, '29.

*She's cheery and she's busy,
There's never a pout or a frown,
But when it comes to Friday night,
She's off for a nearby town.*

*How does she get ready
To leave us quite so quick?
She packs while going down the stairs,
Then hear her heels go click.*

WALKER, MARGARET G. Howland, Maine
South Hall Howland High School
Grade 1, Training School

"MARGIE"

Gym Exhibition, '29; Christmas Festival, '30.

Her name was Margie Walker
And she was out to kill,
Who was her victim, sir, you ask?
Why, Mr. John McGill.

Good luck, Margie, in your chosen career.

WARDWELL, GERTRUDE Lisbon Falls, Maine
Purington Hall Lisbon Falls High School
Lower Grades, Farmington Falls

"GERT"

C. A., '29, '30; Hiking Club, '29; House Committee, '29;
Christmas Festival, '30; Monitor, '30.

"Gert, though things may not look bright, they will turn out all right, if we keep painting the clouds with sunshine."

When gum is sold no Moore,
One disappointed Gert there'll be,
But, the Moore Power will be left,
For the ruler one, two, three.

WATSON, CLARICE Kennebunk, Maine
Purington Hall Kennebunk High School
Grades 5 and 6, Training School

"SIS"

C. A., '29, '30; Senior Cabinet, '30; Tennis Club, '29; Gym
Exhibition, '29; Treas. C. A., '30.

*"Always smiling, happy and gay,
We never saw Clarice any other way."*

If you know Sis you will be convinced that good things are done up in small packages. Don't forget the "Three Musketeers". They wish you good luck.

WEBB, LEONORA C. Stonington, Maine
South Hall Stonington High School
Grade 2, Training School

"WEBBIE"

Girls' A. A., '30; Vice-President of Hiking Club, '29; Poland
Spring Conference, '29; Delegate to Maqua, '29; Junior Cabinet, '29; President C. A., '30; Hockey, '29, '30; Gym Exhibition, '29; Christmas Festival, '30; Basketball, '29, '30; House Committee, '30.

Leonora says she's going to be an old maid school teacher, but we can't picture her as such. Of course we know she will make a good teacher, but not an old maid. Cheer up, you will meet him somewhere, and as you admit you do not care whether he is light, dark, or medium, we know you will be satisfied.

WELCH, CATHERINE
The Willows

Madison, Maine
Madison High School

"KIPPY"

C. A., '29, '30; A. A., '29, '30; Hiking Club, '30; Modern Authors, '30; Proctor, '29, '30; Willows Play, '30.

Catherine is studious and conscientious about her work. Reading seems to be her hobby. She has made many friends during her stay here and has spurred us on—"To look ever upward". Added to this she has ability as an actress. Catherine we wish you great success.

WHEELER, CLARISSA B.
Purington Hall

Oakland, Maine
Williams High School
Grade 8, Town School

C. A., '29, '30; Choral Society, '29, '30; Gym Exhibition, '29.

Clarissa, you have served F. S. N. S. faithfully during your stay here. Whenever a program was to be given you were ready to give your services. You have been a friend worth having.

*"O friend, O best of friends,
Thy absence more
Than the impending night,
Darkens the landscape o'er."*

WHITNEY, GERTRUDE R.
Purington Hall

Milo, Maine
Milo High School
Grades 5 and 6, Training School

"TRUDY"

C. A., '29, '30; Secretary C. A., '30; House Committee, '29, '30; Poland Springs Conference, '29.

Trudy has talent which spreads in many directions. She could not be otherwise than accurate. Nevertheless, she works for what she attains. We wish you a realm of success, Trudy, in whatever you may attempt and happiness unlimited for all times.

WIGGINS, MARGUERITE
The Willows

Houlton, Maine
Houlton High School
Grades 1 and 2, Town School

"MAG"

Hiking Club, '29; Gym Exhibition, '29; Music Festival, '30.

Mag is a quiet little miss, always ready for a good time or something to eat. She comes from "up North" where the spuds grow.

The School Buildings

NORMAL BUILDING

Farmington State Normal School

FOR more than half a century, Farmington State Normal School has maintained standards of scholarship and progress that have secured it a name among the Normal Schools of the country.

A careful observer would note that it has always been progressive, yet recently there has been a marked advancement due to the more modern procedure adopted for class room and student life.

A still further interest in modernization of the school has been evidenced in a conference of Normal School Principals for the purpose of discussing the revision of the courses of study. Also, beginning next year, provision has been made so that graduates of F. S. N. S. may transfer their work to the University of Maine with two year's credit. This will enable many students to carry their education to a higher development and thus profit even more from the benefits received here.

PURINGTON HALL

Purington Hall

HOW we will miss old Purington Hall
 And our rooms in that Dorm,
 Those beans and brown bread, even prunes
 And our "Happy Birthday" song;
 Our matron dear who watched o'er us
 Forgiving our misdemeanors
 We'll always remember with grateful hearts
 As one of the best of house mothers,
 And it will seem so wonderful
 In the long years to come
 To meet again in memories
 Our friends of Purington.

SOUTH HALL

South Hall

THE fondest memories of our two years at Farmington will be those of our life at South. How could we forget the wonderful times we have had together with our dear friends.

Mother Allen certainly deserves our love and devotion for the numerous things she has done for us, giving us lunches after mountain hikes, preparing the coffee herself for the lunch after the Gorham game, permitting us to use South Hall for the Hop, bringing us viands to tempt our appetites whenever we are ill and numerous other things that we shall never forget. To her we extend our heartfelt love and admiration.

THE WILLOWS

The Willows

WE who have lived at the Willows know what good times are. We shall long remember the picnics on the lawn and the many parties we have enjoyed.

Most of all we shall remember our loving House-mother who is always ready to share our joys and sorrows.

We extend our thanks to Mrs. Mahoney, Miss Mahoney and Miss Havey, who are always willing to help us.

THE LODGE

The Lodge

WHEN we came to Farmington,
The Lodge was where we stayed.
Through the days of rain and sun,
'Twas here we worked and played.

Mother Kendrick has been to us
A matron kind and true,
For if perchance we made a fuss
She still remained true blue.

When we came to Mother K—
She adopted one and all,
And we have been a family gay
Although the house is small.

The fireplace, which we all enjoyed,
The garden, with flowers fair,
And the dining-room were all employed.
We had gay parties there.

Through laughter and through snow,
Through sunshine and through rain,
Whatever comes tomorrow
Thoughts of the Lodge remain.

PALMER HALL

Palmer Hall

THIS year the Junior and Senior House was changed to the former Franklin County Hospital. With Mother Tabbutt we have spent many happy hours and to her we owe our appreciation for all the splendid advice and helpfulness she has given us.

In honor of Miss Mary Palmer, our friend and former teacher, we affectionately named our dormitory, Palmer Hall.

FIRST SEMESTER

President — Violet McSorley

Junior Proctor — Hazel Patterson

SECOND SEMESTER

President — Helen Furber

Junior Proctor No. 1 — Dorothy Brown

Junior Proctor No. 2 — Ellen Hannaford

MATRONS

Standing — Mrs. Kendrick, Mrs. Mantor, Mrs. Tabbutt
Seated — Mrs. Allen, Mrs. Mahoney

To The Matrons

WE'D like to be the sort of friends
That you have been to us,
We'd like to be the help that
You've been always without fuss;
We'd like to mean as much to you
Each minute of the day,
As you have meant, dear House-Mothers
To us along the way.

CHORAL SOCIETY

SCHOOL ORCHESTRA

Choral Society

THE Choral Society, under the direction of Mrs. Ingalls, held its first meeting in Room 1, Thursday, Sept. 26. The society lost many valuable members through graduation last year, but those places have been ably filled by students from both classes.

At the first meeting the constitution was discussed and revised. The following officers were elected:

President	Neal Howard
Vice President	Lester Gattrell
Sec. and Treas.	Priscilla Henderson
Librarian	George Studley
Attendance Officer	Beatrice Bickford

An executive committee composed of Harold Libby, Helen Donough and Lucille Small was chosen.

At the weekly meetings the best and most artistic music was studied. The group made many public appearances, including those at Music Hall, Old South Church and the Chapel exercises on Friday mornings. These appearances were greatly enjoyed by the audience, and to those taking part the work has proven of great value.

The Society and Orchestra will give a Promenade Concert in April.

The Society will also furnish music for Baccalaureate Sermon in June. A special program will be arranged for the last chapel exercises of the year. At this time the two year members of the Society who are eligible will receive pins and the first year members will receive letters.

The Society has encouraged further study of music, and its success this year promises well for years to come.

School Orchestra

THE Orchestra and their director, Mrs. Ingalls, have worked very hard this year and deserve much credit for the fine work which they have accomplished.

During the year, they have given several programs. Many times they have had requests to play and the response has always been whole-heartedly given.

At the end of the year the members will be awarded pins and letters which they have well earned.

The orchestra is composed of the following instruments:

7 Violins	1 Flute
1 Viola	2 Saxaphones
2 Cellos	1 Base Horn
1 Tuba	1 Sousaphone
Drums and Piano

The following are the officers for the year:

Concert Master	Harold Libby
Business Manager	Reginald Ingalls
President	Myron Starbird
Sec. and Treas.	Violet Larland
Librarian	Irma Allen
Ex. Com.	E. Kearney, E. Baxter and M. Paul
Room Com.	E. Russell and Allen Jones

An Appreciation

THE love and appreciation of good music, which we have acquired the past two years, is due to Mrs. Franca Ingalls, our greatly admired music instructor. To her we owe the well organized orchestra, which we have all enjoyed many times; also the choral society which has been trained with great patience and care. Yet, her most important work is that of teaching and inspiring us to see and understand the real beauty in the best of music. The word cannot is not to be found in her vocabulary. With great patience and perseverance, she is always helpful and considerate. It is our hope that the incoming students may be afforded such a well supervised course as we have enjoyed the past two years.

EFFESENNESS ENTERTAINERS

Effenessen Entertainers

THE Effenessen Entertainers were organized during the first quarter of school, 1928, with the purpose of playing for school dances and socials. Increasing popularity led to outside engagements bringing additional success. During the remainder of the school year the orchestra was busy filling its large number of engagements — parties, dances, socials, proms, and graduation exercises.

During the summer vacation the members continued the orchestral work. Engagements in Maine and New Hampshire were accepted and soon the orchestra was playing six nights in the week; during this time two musicians were selected to fill vacancies in the orchestra. Popularity and success continued to favor this organization and it was then recognized as "Maine's Greatest School Orchestra".

Completing the summer engagements the members again entered school. Regular engagements are still being played by this orchestra with the best of success. This year it will have the distinction of being the first school orchestra to furnish music for the "B" Hop, Normal's big event of the year.

The members of the orchestra wish to extend their thanks to Mrs. Franca

Ingalls, director of music, for her interest and coöperation in making it "Maine's Greatest School Orchestra".

The present personnel is:

"Les" Starbird	Trombone
"Red" Golding	Trumpet
Carl Milliken	B flat Tenor Sax
"Chizzy" Snell	Drums
"Jimmie" Studley	Piano
Elmer J. (Tuggle) Russell	Bass
"Puss" Ingalls	Banjo
"Runt" Starbird	E flat Alto Sax

Sigma Omecron Sigma

S. O. S. as it is usually known by flourished greater than ever this season. This fraternity was founded several years ago by the young men of the school for the purpose of promoting greater interest among the men students of the school in regard to the outside activities and especially along the music line and entertainments. Each year this group has put on an entertainment and plan to put on another this spring.

As usual the membership is limited to the fifteen active members and the initiations last fall afforded much amusement to the student body.

A petition has been sent for admittance to Kappa Delta Phi, a National College of Education Fraternity, and it is hoped that a chapter will be granted us.

The following are members this season:

Pres. — "Pete" Gattrell	"Doug" Barker
V. Pres. — "Mutt" Scott	"Jim" Bernardini
Sec. — "Blister" Howard	"Bob" Higgins

Basketball

ALTHOUGH our basketball team failed to uphold the wonderful record of last year's championship quintet, nevertheless, the team, in spite of a more difficult schedule, scholastic difficulties and numerous injuries, displayed a fighting spirit that left little to be desired. It was this spirit, which was always in evidence whether the boys were winning or losing, plus the untiring efforts of our coach, Joe Roy, which carried us to victory in the majority of our games.

When the candidates for the team were summoned in November, a very large number came out and with several veterans back from the preceding year Coach Roy soon rounded a team into shape for the opening game of the season. This game, which was played at New Portland with Central High School resulted in the expected easy victory for us and we won handily, 33-13.

A large crowd was at hand for our first home game, but were treated to an unpleasant surprise when the supposedly weak team from Jay High School badly defeated us, 40-17. Jay played remarkable basketball and it would have taken a superb team to have defeated them on that particular night. This marked the beginning of a four game slump which somewhat marred our season's record.

We were defeated both games of a two day trip, by Gilman High of Northeast Harbor, 36-27 and also by E. M. C. S. of Bucksport, 38-14. Both games were extremely rough due to poor officiating.

The team then disbanded for the Christmas Holidays and it is the opinion of many, including Coach Roy, that had we gone on the usual Christmas Trip as in former years, playing seven or eight games, the team would have gained that much needed experience which a trip of this sort gives and would have been better prepared for the hard games to come. Undoubtedly a trip will be arranged another year.

After our return from the holidays and with only three days of practice, we gave battle to the powerful Kent's Hill team, Prep. School Champs. of the previous year. In this game, the boys hopelessly outclassed the first half, came back to out fight and out score their opponents for the rest of the game, the final score reading K. H. 33, Normal 19.

The all around play of Capt. "Dud" Ingalls was a feature. This was the last game of our slump and though defeated, the team showed great promise for future games.

The following night we journeyed to North Anson and though rather tired from the game of the night before had little or no trouble in defeating the Academy 33-13.

A large number of the student body, enthused by the fine showing of the team against Kent's Hill, accompanied the team to Wilton for their next game and were amply rewarded as the Normal defeated Wilton by the lop-sided score of 47-21,

Varsity Basketball Team

Top Row — Scott, Luce, Webber; L. Roy, Coach
Lower Row — Perkins, Fenwick, Capt. Ingalls, Henderson, Bernadini

with "Juicy" Henderson rolling up twenty-one points.

The team had certainly hit its stride and proved it by nosing out Coburn in a fiercely played contest. At the end of the regular playing time the score was tied at 35, but our team, with Bernardini leading the way, beat them to the wire in a wild finish.

And now for the game of the season, the Gorham game. The boys from Gorham came in a large motor bus, instead of by train as in previous years and were escorted to Purington Hall, where an enjoyable banquet was held, the meal being greatly enlivened by cheers and the singing of the school songs. Then the "Big Parade" to Music Hall where the struggle was to take place.

And then the game—and what a game it was! The boys got away to a good start and were out in front at the half 16-10, but the Gorhamites came back strong and tied the score at 24 all with one minute to play. From then on it was a mad scramble, with shots rebounding off the backboards in all directions until Fenwick showed his mettle by sinking a foul shot for the winning point just before the final whistle blew.

After the game we danced to the music of our renowned F. S. N. S. Entertainers and so to bed, tired but gloriously happy.

The team was still "clicking" and the following night we travelled to Jay determined to wipe out the stigma of that earlier setback. Were we successful? And how! We defeated them 30-16 and maybe revenge wasn't sweet.

Our opponents in the next game were the strong Livermore Falls High team whom Gorham had barely defeated the previous week. The Normal quintet, however, was much superior and the game was more one-sided than the score of 22-12 would indicate.

We celebrated our seventh consecutive victory by swamping Lisbon Falls High, 64-15, with everyone having a share in the scoring.

The boys then sojourned to Gorham for the return game and were tendered a warm reception—in more ways than one. Our students showed their school spirit by sending telegrams and telephone messages of good luck, but though the team fought hard all the way, it just wasn't our night and we lost in a rough and rugged set-to.

RESERVE BASKETBALL TEAM

Showing a complete reversal of form and playing its last game on foreign territory the team defeated Coburn in a sizzling game. This was the first Normal team to ever turn the trick. The score was close all the way until the Normal "put on steam" and coasted home a 41-32 victor.

Returning to our own floor we again took into camp the Livermore Falls quintet, 29-21. Much personal fouling slowed up an otherwise interesting game.

On Washington's Birthday we had as our opponents E. M. C. S. of Bucksport. This team was the champions in the Eastern Division of the Prep. Schools and were strong favorites to win, but we gave them the battle of their lives and had it not been for slips at unopportune moments would have defeated them. This fast and interesting game was enjoyed by everyone even though our team was defeated.

Another easy victory for us resulted in our return game with Wilton Academy, which team later won the Farmington Tournament. They were outclassed however and we romped 22-12.

The last game of the season was the game with Salem, Mass. Normal School, at Music Hall, and a large crowd turned out to see what the lads from the Bay State had to offer. This game was anybody's game, first one team leading then another, but we lost out in the final minutes of play and thus Salem had her revenge for the numerous defeats which we had administered to teams from Mass. in previous years.

"F" CLUB

Reserve Basketball Team

THE Normal Reserves, playing their customary separate schedule, enjoyed a very successful season, winning eight of twelve games played. Several new men were developed and doubtless will see service on the Varsity next year. Notable among the victories was the win over the Anson Academy team, who were strong contenders for the tournament title.

Their record for the season:

Reserves 17	Jay Seconds	29
Reserves 24	Rangeley High	34
Reserves 47	Abbott Jr. College	8
Reserves 26	Wilton Seconds	25
Reserves 25	Anson Academy	13

Reserves 40	Norridgewock	12
Reserves 29	Livermore Seconds	16
Reserves 33	Norridgewock	19
Reserves 40	Phillips	36
Reserves 26	Wilton Seconds	27

The following men played for the Reserves:

"Bob" Higgins	"Ted" Gagne
"Nick" Mickalide	"Stoop" Stewart
Neal Howard	"Cronk" Cronkite

"F" Club Tournament

ON March 7th and 8th the "F" Club staged its first annual Farmington State Normal School Basketball Tournament for the nearby small high schools, and it was a big success in every respect. Lack of space prevents us from giving an account of the games played but suffice to say the large crowds which attended were treated to some fast and interesting basketball for two successive days. Wilton Academy was the Tournament winner but had to display a championship brand of ball to win the much coveted honor. A beautiful silver cup was presented to the winning team as well as individual medals to the players. Medals were also given to the boys of Rangeley High, who were runners-up. An added attraction was the annual game between the first and second year boys, which was played just prior to the deciding game of the tourney. This game was as fine an exhibition of basketball as one could wish for and the second years were victors only after a great comeback in the last part of the game.

It is to be hoped that this tournament, which so many enjoyed, will become an annual event, that will tend to promote interest and sportsmanship in athletics. Following is the list of the teams who participated in the tournament:

Wilton Academy (winners)
Rangeley High (runners-up)
Oakland High
Jay High
Farmington High
Norridgewock High
Phillips High

GIRLS' ATHLETICS

PLANS were made at the suggestion of Miss Allen to organize an Athletic Association for the girls. All the girls in the school had the privilege of joining and more than two hundred did join.

The first meeting took place in the Gym and the officers were elected: Adrienne DeLisle, President; Helen Staples, Vice President; Helen Robinson, Secretary and Treasurer. When the Athletic Council was elected these girls were to formulate a constitution, which would set forth the point system and the requirements of the members. It was decided that Basketball and Field Hockey should be the major sports and Captain Ball, Volley Ball and Baseball the minor sports.

The Council also provided the motto for the Association: "To provide a program of wholesale sport and happy recreation for everyone throughout the school year, to create in each individual a lasting interest in sport for sport's sake, to improve general health, vigor and endurance, to develop greater class consciousness and a spirit of good sportsmanship."

 Front Row — Staples, Lufkin, Capt. Holbrook, DeLisle, Flint

Let us hope that now we have an Association that it will be a lasting affair and not pass into oblivion in a few years.

Captain Ball

HAVE you ever heard a brawl?
It's the First Year's call,
When they play, in the fall,
Their games of Captain Ball.
But the feature of the hall
And the champion of all
Is the Second Division team.

The line-up of the Second Division team:

Captain, Bates
Guard, Cushing
Guard, Stinchfield
Guard, McLaughlin
Guard, Bohmson
Baseman, Craig
Baseman, Pendleton
Baseman, Vanio
Baseman, Ames
Baseman, Dyer

The other teams were the Home Economics Freshmen, the First, Third, Fourth and Fifth Division teams.

Basketball

BASKETBALL is one of the girls' major sports and this year there were five teams representing the Dormitories and other places where the girls stay. There was no little competition for the different positions but at last all was ready for the first game. All these games were played in the gym, with Miss Allen refereeing.

The first game was played by the Willows and Palmer Hall. The teams were so well matched that it was necessary to play two overtime periods to decide the winner. The final score was 20-18 in favor of Palmer Hall.

The winners of this first game now had to meet the strong South Hall team and then and there a stop was put to their progress, for the South Hall girls were players and then some!

Grindall starred for South, Moore for Palmer. The final score of this game was 31-20 in favor of South.

The third game was a fast and furious game between Purington Hall and the Outsiders' team of F. S. N. S. Both teams were made up of experienced players and the shooting and passing was great but nothing could beat the splendid team work of the Outsiders and the final whistle blew with the score 38-20 in favor of the Outsiders.

The fourth and final game was between the winners, South Hall and the Outsiders. The game started with the Outsiders scoring in the first few minutes of play and that's what they did all through the game. But the losers of the game were certainly sports and when Betty Bates crashed to the floor dislocating her elbow they agreed to let the score stand as it was, at 38-12, favor of the Outsiders.

After many flowery speeches and much advertising the night of the Big Game came.

Once a year the basketball teams of the First and Second Year Classes meet. For the past two years the First Year teams have been winners but not so in 1930 for the Second Years won by a score of 29 to 18.

The victors were garbed in red kilties and jerseys while the other team wore green and white. All the students who watched were dressed in their team's respective colors.

The game was one of fair, fast, furious playing with few fouls called on either team. At the end of the first half the Greens were leading by one point. But that was the end of their lead for the Reds came back strong and wiped it out.

The girls of both teams showed fine sportsmanship. The referee was Miss Caliendo of Mexico who handled the game well. The time was four 8-minute periods.

Tennis Team

PROSPECT for another winning team this season in tennis seem very bright at the present writing. Last year's team went through the season winning seven straight matches along with the New England Normal School Championship, and this certainly brought this sport to the front. Last year the matches drew large crowds to each contest, and quite a little interest in this sport was stimulated.

Matches were played on the School Court and thanks to Mr. Butler of Farmington we were allowed to use his excellent court.

With the following letter men of last year's team, Snell, Russell, Barker, Gattrell and Cronkite, and with the addition of Moore, a transfer from Colby, another excellent season is being looked forward to.

The following schedule has been arranged by Manager "Pete" Gattrell:

May 3	Deering H. S.	Portland
May 10	Skowhegan H. S.	A. M. Skowhegan
May 10	Keene, New Hampshire Normal	P. M. Farmington
May 14	Hebron Academy	Farmington

September Log

Sept.

- 11 School opened with a large entering class.
- 12 The Freshmen are exceedingly green, and are waiting to have their voices tested.
- 13 Evidently the incoming class is very musical as another division was added this year.
Entertainment given to incoming class. Everything went well, but the gun! Social held in each dormitory.
Regular classes are in session.
- 17 Freshmen have changed from sea-green to green.
- 18 Hoorah! Afternoon off to attend the County Fair.
- 19 Petition for another afternoon off received very graciously by Mr. Mallett, but it arrived too late for results.
- 20 First school dance of the year held in recreation hall at South Hall. Everyone had a good time.
- 21 First long hike taken by girls today; went over to the zoo, and had dinner at the cascade.
- 23 Students sleep-eyed, per usual Monday morning.
- 24 Hockey practice for second year students.
- 25 Edna M. Clements, a former classmate, was instantly killed when struck by an automobile in Lewiston today. She had been attending the Teachers' Convention in Lewiston.

- 26 Mr. Mallett's desk begins to look like a bargain counter. All lost and found articles repose there.
- 27 Another week-end at hand, now what shall we do?
- 28 Long hike taken by the Girls' Athletic Association. Went to Clearwater, and enjoyed out-of-door dinner. Everyone was exceedingly tired, but very happy when they arrived home.
- 29 All the hikers are foot sore, and mount the stairs very slowly. The Freshmen are actually turning a bit flesh-colored, they are learning F. S. N. S. ways very fast.
- 30 Try-outs for Dramatics Club begin today.

School Entertainment Course

WE have been privileged to witness a number of excellent entertainments this year which were furnished by part of our "incidental fee".

Nov. 22. Helen Simpson of Boston delighted the school at Merrill Hall, by a number of readings of various character. She changed her costumes and applied her make-up before the audience, which amused and delighted all.

Dec. 17. The Boston Jubilee Singers were a group of colored folks who entertained us for two hours with Negro Spirituals, jubilee and plantation songs and humorous readings.

Feb. 18. Gertrude Thompson Co. with Helen Cannon, reader, entertained the school at Merrill Hall with singing, reading and character sketches.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Mar. 10. Mrs. Lonise Cates Clark gave a reading of Shakespeare's "Romeo and Juliet" at Merrill Hall, which was greatly appreciated by the audience.

Mar. 12. De Jen & Co., the famous magician, entertained the school and townspeople, at Music Hall, with his mystic power and authentic presentation of Chinese mystery and mental telepathy, which confounded and bewildered the audience. This type of performance was very different from the usual trend, but was thoroughly enjoyed by all. "Lib" Davis seemed to be the only one able to expound all the mysteries. We have reason to believe that "Lib" is pursuing a correspondence course in this subject.

Apr. 15. Charles Gorst delighted the school by mimicking many, many birds.

Psalm of Study

TELL us not in mournful whispers when test-time comes drawing near,
While our lazy neighbors slumber, we will rise with ne'er a tear,
Cheating will be resented, and we'll not be content
With the thrill that is presented in that seventy-five per cent.!

Lives of students all remind us, we can do without a flunk
And in passing, leave behind us, notebooks full of written junk,
Notebooks, that perhaps another faithful student may consume,
Helping some poor, failing brother on his journey to the tomb!

Flint, '31.

With Apologies to Milton

HASTE thee, Imp, and bring with thee
The flunks and 70's for me to see;
Scolds and talks and severe blame,
Jests and scorn and humble shame,
Such as place upon my head
Then lead me to my little bed;
And in my dream of future life
Let me forget this bitter strife,
And if I make the best of things
Tell me frankly will Fortune bring

The pardon of my useless aim
And give me a share of splendid fame?
Hector, '31.

The Christian Association

THE Christian Association is a very vital factor in the school interests. The Thursday night meetings, together with the many good times staged by the C. A. endears this organization to the hearts of all.

We have a splendid coöperative council consisting of the Senior and Junior Cabinet members. A new feature was added to the organization this year, in-as-much as three extra members were elected to serve on each separate committee, making possible a much larger representation of the school body. This plan has been most satisfactory this year, and will no doubt continue in force next year.

Perhaps you would like to know just what the C. A. has done, and is doing. First, we must tell you about the C. A. Fair. It was the best one staged in years. Saturday morning, February 1st, Music Hall resembled a carpenter's shop. Boys and girls with hammers, nails, and saws were busily at work endeavoring to get their booths in readiness for the afternoon. The morning passed very quickly, and there wasn't a shirker in the crowd. The booths certainly looked beautiful, and the committees deserved great praise. The Candy Booth, representing a huge May basket, received first prize, while the Fancy Sewing Booth, representing a Chinese garden, secured second prize. The Financial Booth, revealing a futuristic design, obtained honorable mention.

We sent a Christmas box to the Sea Coast Mission, and purchased a Health Bond from the Red Cross.

C. A. SENIOR CABINET

Whenever a student is obliged to remain in the hospital room for any time, the C. A. always send flowers to cheer and comfort the person.

The C. A. has been very successful this year and we wish it the best of success in the years to come.

Christmas Folk Festival

IN place of the usual gymnastic exhibition staged every year, the second year students, assisted by a few first year students presented a Christmas Folk Festival in Merrill Hall, Saturday, December 14, 1929.

Great credit is due Miss Allen for the splendid work she accomplished, in view of the fact that rehearsals consumed just two weeks.

The hall was crowded, every available standing space being taken, and the audience declared the presentation to be the finest of its kind staged locally.

The "B" Hop

FOR weeks we had been hearing such remarks as these reverberate through the halls of the dormitory: "Oh, say, have you seen Gerry's dress?" "It's simply gorgeous." "I expect mine anytime now, my sister is sending it from New York." "Do you suppose F—— will take C——?" "Say doesn't L—— look regal in her gown! It's superb, really." "Can you feature this? R—— is taking a 'Blind' and I hear that he is coming from Boston." "Half of the girls here are going to take 'Blinds,' gosh but I am anxious to see what they draw."

Saturday, March 15th, dawned calm and clear, and resembled most any other Saturday, but by ten o'clock one could easily tell that something was afoot. The very air seemed electrified with excitement. Hammers banged, step-ladders creaked, paper flew, and voices grew loud with excitement.

At eleven o'clock the station platform was crowded with eager girls, waiting for their swains, and some anxious to know how kind Fortune had been in showering her ultra fine "Blinds". Sons of Maine, Bowdoin, Bates, Colby and other schools were in evidence, with eager, anticipating faces.

The boys were escorted to the hotel, and the girls walked back to the dormitories each one delighted with her "Find" and declaring that the assortment of "Blinds" were the very best ever.

The town was literally swarmed with groups of young folks during the morning and early afternoon.

The Tea Dance was held at the recreation room which was attractively decorated with panels and balloons. The school orchestra furnished music for the two hours' dancing.

At eight o'clock the young people assembled in the living room and dining room at South Hall, which had been transformed into a veritable futuristic ballroom, the decorations being black and silver with hangings of futuristic design, and multi-colored streamers hanging from the lights. The F. S. N. S. Orchestra furnished music for the dancing and received high praise for their work. The orchestra was placed on a platform in the hall, which was decorated similar to the dance hall.

Refreshments were served in the living-room, which had been converted into a lounge, with banners, floor lamps and cushions, with a cozy fire burning in the fireplace, giving the whole scene the aspect of home.

This is the first time that the Hop was ever held at South Hall and we owe Mrs. Allen many thanks for her kind assistance and willingness in permitting us to have it there.

At eleven forty-five the saxophones wailed their last tumultuous sobs and were placed in their cases, and the echoes of the piano were still faintly audible when the good-nights were being said. The best ever "B" was over.

Sunday the guests departed to their respective schools, and the Normalites endeavored to turn their thoughts back to the betterment of their minds — which proved to be no easy task.

C. A. Annual Masquerade

FRIDAY, January 31st, the C. A. held their annual masquerade at Music Hall.

Folks began arriving at 6.45 and such an array of people, clowns, peasants, Italians, dolls, twins, Arabs, fashion plates (old and modern), piorettes, newsboys, gypsies, clothespin rack, spoons, towel and accessories, and last but not least the Ghost, who entered unceremoniously during the grand march.

The judges were Miss Porter, Miss Stone and Miss Havey, and their task proved to be a very difficult one. Prizes were awarded to B. Simpson, M. Flint, R. Koritszy, B. Jewett, V. Jewett, and Miss Hill.

The F. S. N. S. Orchestra furnished music during the evening and they were at their best.

A splendid program was introduced during intermission which was as follows: Saxophone solo by Myron Starbird, with piano accompaniment by James Studley; "I Want a Primitive Man," solo by Myra Barnaby, accompanied by a chorus made up of M. Holbrook, G. Condon, A. Keweza, A. DeLisle, M. Brown, M. Goucher, Pat Henderson and B. Brown; a takeoff on some of the teachers by C. Hoctor; stunts by Don Beals; "Button Up Your Overcoat," song and dance by M. Robinson and P. Bohnson.

Punch and cookies were served between dances.

As the dancing progressed everyone grew hilarious, and streamers and confetti were thrown about with wild abandon, the climax coming when Addie and Marge appeared in the balcony with hundreds of multi-colored balloons. Such stretching, scrambling and shouting as accompanied the attempt to secure a balloon was adequate price for them.

The Goodnight piece sounded long before anyone was prepared for it, and it was with great reluctance that the students donned their wraps and departed to their respective abodes, after declaring C. A. night to be one of the best ever held at Normal School.

The Student Council

THE Student Council is a very important organization in our school. Its main purpose is to settle cases that will inevitably arise in the best regulated schools.

This body consists of two representatives from the first year class, one from the freshmen and sophomores, and one from the juniors and seniors of the Home Economics Department, who serve for two quarters with Mr. Mallett, who speaks for the faculty, making a total of seven members on the council.

We have been most fortunate this year in having very few cases the nature of which would merit the harshest penalty — expulsion.

The members for the school year 1929-30 were as follows:

Myra Barnaby	Dorothy Russell
Edith Coleman	Dorothy Colomy
Harry MacNeil	Helen Staples
Geraldine Morrison	Reginald Clark
Roland Holden

Student Conference

FARMINGTON Normal School was represented this year at the New England Student Conference held in Poland Springs, Maine. Our delegates were Eunice Ward, of the first year class, and Eleanor McKeen and Reginald Clark, of the second year class. A full report of the entire trip was given in C. A. Meeting and was of great interest to C. A. members.

Maqua

THERE were eight delegates from the C. A. Senior Cabinet at Camp Maqua, Poland, Maine, this last summer. They were Lenora Webb, Helen McDonough, Bernice Simpson, Evelyn Baxter, Helen Robinson, Gertrude Whitney, Clarice Watson and Eleanor McKeen. The delegates came back this year with many new ideas to boost the C. A. and with many happy memories of "Down Where the Birches Sway."

New York Alumni Association

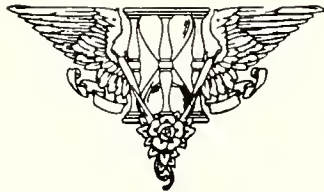

THE New York Alumni Association, made up of alumni in New York City and vicinity, held its annual luncheon at Pennsylvania Hotel, Saturday, February 1. Mr. Mallett represented the school and thirty members of the association were present. This is the association which offers a cash prize of twenty-five dollars annually to the member of the graduating class who in the judgment of the faculty attains to the highest level in speech, manners and spirit of helpful service.

Ella P. Merrill, '91, presided and Kathleen Connelly, '28, is secretary.

Massachusetts Alumni

THE annual luncheon of the Massachusetts Alumni was held at the Pioneer, Boston, Saturday, March 15. Mr. and Mrs. Mallett and Miss Porter from the school were present to greet the one hundred fifty alumni who represented various classes from 1871 to 1929. Charles E. Varney, '15, Superintendent of Schools in Stoneham, Massachusetts, was president and Myrtle A. Bacon, '98, secretary. C. H. Knowlton, '94, is treasurer. The entire afternoon was spent in renewing old associations. Near the end of the day a dozen or more graduates who are students at Boston University came in to greet the older members of the association and the guests from Farmington.

The Dramatics Club

THE Dramatics Club, under the expert supervision of Miss Hill, has done some excellent work this year.

The membership of the club is increasing steadily. There are new members who show great enthusiasm and ability. With the new members, it is assured that the fine work of the club will be continued next year. The officers for the year 1929-30 are as follows:

President	Helena Purvis
Secretary	Adrienne DeLisle
Treasurer	Faith Cony

On Thursday evening, November 21, "Mice and Men," a romantic comedy, was given. The cast was made up of new members while the old members acted as Property Committee. It was a delightful piece of acting and was very much enjoyed by everyone. The cast was as follows:

Mark Embury	Eleanor McKeen
Roger Goodlake	Portia Pendleton
Capt. George Lovell	Olive Colesworthy
Sir Harry Trimbleston	Gladys Condon
Kit Barniger	Clementina Johnston
Peter	Hilda Lishness
Joanna Goodlake	Audrey McGown
Mrs. Deborah	Jean Culleton
Peggy	Joann Nichols
Matron of the Hospital	Ruth Dyer
Beadle	Clara Bunker
Molly	Elizabeth Bates

In February, a short play in verse was given by the children of the Training School. The play was written and directed by Miss Hill and given in recognition of the patriotic holidays in February.

In March, a play, "How the Moon Learned to Smile," was given by the Training School. The scenery was very effective, and the play was a huge success.

The plays given by the children are an innovation this year. Miss Hill thoughtfully arranged and gave them in order to give us material and ideas to be used when we get into the field.

On May 8, three one-act plays were given: one by the first year group, one by the second years, and one by the Home Economics.

The play given by the first years was "Lone-Some Like" by Harold Brighthouse. The cast was as follows:

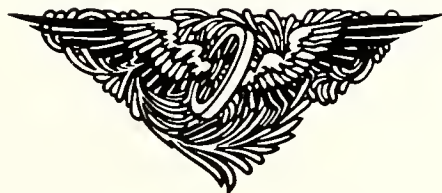

Sarah Ormerod	Alice Durgin
Emma Brierley	Isabelle Reid
Sam Horrocks	Foster Sanborn
Rev. Frank Alleyne	Lewis Webber

The second year selection was "At the Golden Goose." The following people took part:

Molly Desmond, an actress	Lucille Small
Ebenezer Asheson, a puritan soldier	Allen Jones
The Landlady of The Golden Goose	Virginia Glines
Sir Anthony Verschoyle	Harold Libby

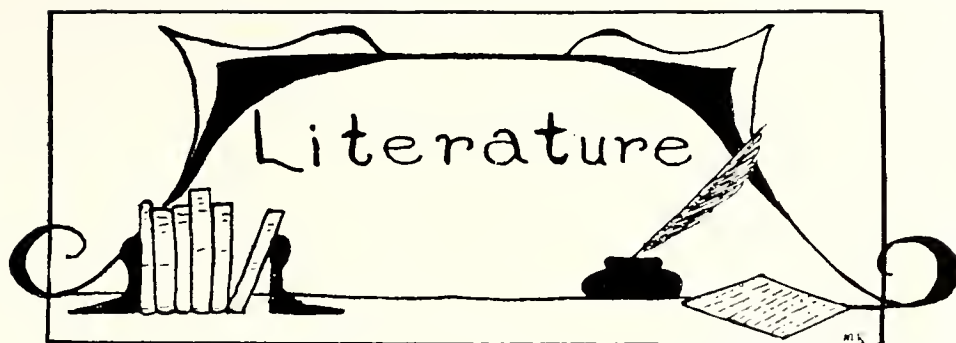

The Home Economics Club play was "Just Women" by Colin Campbell Clements. The cast was as follows:

Mrs. Warren	Beatrice Mower
Betty	Frederica Harrington
Mrs. Pickering	Dorothy Colomy
Mrs. Lawty	Thais Harding
Mrs. Romney	Adrienne DeLisle
Lady Bloshire	Doris Gammon
Clara	Helen McDonnough

DRAMATICS CLUB

Winter Day

EUTERPE VISITS OUR FACULTY

THE dawn was dark, the noontide grey,
We saw no sun till the close of day —
But just before she sank to rest
A brilliant gold lit up the west.

The wind blew drear through the belfry tower —
And long before the midnight hour
Had sounded over the village below,
Old Mother Earth had a blanket of snow.

So fast the crystal flakes did fall
That by noon that day, the old stone wall
And the gate with the posts, in the misty light
Were buried in snow and lost to sight.

For a God-mother now had lifted her hand
And changed the orchard to fairy-land,
Where if you looked close, you would surely see
A dear little elf, behind each tree

And a miniature fairy on every bough,
Ready to spring to the ground, I trow,
And capture those elves (what a robber band!)
And spirit them off to their fairy-land.

But just when that picture the thought enshrouds
And fancy's lost in the filmy clouds,
The sun once more, mounts into the blue
And the beautiful vision — is lost to view.

Louise Hill.

God's Stars

The heavens declare the glory of God — Psalms.

PATIENCE LINDSAY, as she stood on the porch of Quaker Ridge Homestead, in the spring evening, knew there was a God. She could feel his touch in the softness of the air and hear his comforting voice in the whisper of the old pine standing so straight and tall nearby.

In her simple faith and contentment, which seems to come to all who suffer physically, she stood there for many minutes, loving to feel his nearness.

She started, guiltily, when brisk steps sounded along the hall and the door opened.
It was her sister, Deborah.

"Patience Lindsay, whatever will become of you! I'm sure I don't know.
Without a shawl, too! I might have known. It'll be a wonder if you don't get a terrible cold. Hurry up and come in.
Don't you know we've got to make that butter so I can take it to the city tomorrow? I should think you'd be tired enough, after piecing quilts all afternoon, to want to get it done in time to go to bed early. Come in now and hurry up."

She took Patience's arm but Patience clung to the porch railing.

"Oh, Debby, let me look at the stars some more. I always loved to and now that I'm growing blind I love them more.
They look like little bits of heaven shining through. I wonder if God put them there."

"Don't be foolish, Patience! God wants people to work — not look at stars. They are there and always will be and you can't change them by staring at them when there's work to do."

"I don't want to. Oh, well, Debby, let's make the butter." Together they went into the kitchen. Patience sighed heavily as she plodded behind Deborah. It seemed to her that life, according to Deborah, was made of ugly, common-place things, like butter and quilt-making. She thought it foolish and useless to cut big pieces of cloth into little squares for patchwork. She wondered what Deborah would think if she knew how she pitied her because her life and thoughts couldn't reach beyond the roof and up to God's stars.

The house, inside, was neat and clean. Deborah kept it so. She beamed with pride at the sight of it, even as she was leading Patience in from her dreams to the butter. They started working at once. Deborah had already turned the old barrel churn until butter came. She drained the fresh butter milk into a big pail and put the gleaming, yellow butter into a pan. For a long time they were silent as they patted out the buttermilk; put in the salt; molded the butter and wrapped it in wet butter-paper. At last Patience spoke, "Debby, what time will Myron Skillings call to take you and the butter to the train tomorrow?"

"About half past six, I guess. Land! He'll be here before we get through if we don't hurry up and finish so we can go to bed."

Another silence followed, then Patience spoke again, a little sadly, "You know sometimes I'm sorry I didn't marry him the time he asked me, when I was only eighteen. Then little Marcia Darrell might have been my grand-daughter instead of Rose Perkins's."

Deborah turned quickly, her face showing horrified amazement, "Patience Lindsay! For shame on you—wishing for other people's husbands and grand-children. What would Myron think if he could hear you say those dreadful things?"

"It's all your fault, anyway, Debby. You said he wasn't any good just because he didn't go to our meeting. I think there's a lot of good people who aren't Baptists. I don't believe God cares."

"Patience! Go to bed at once. Now I mean it. Go on!" she said sternly as she handed Patience her cane from the corner.

With tears in her eyes Patience hobbled over to the window and stared out, "Oh, Debby," she sobbed, "the stars are all gone and some day when I'm all blind I can't see them even when they're there. I'm afraid I shall lose God when I can't see his stars."

Deborah pursed her lips and said nothing. Sometimes she found her sister's thoughts about the stars rather exasperating.

The clock struck twelve. "There," said Deborah, as she put the churn in the pantry, "the clock struck twelve so I guess we'd better go to bed. I want to wind the clock first so it won't stop before morning. What on earth are you sniffing about now?"

"Oh, Debby, I hate that clock. It gives me horrid thoughts. We're just like it—all run down and ready to stop. I don't want to die, Debby. Sometimes I hate to go to sleep at night for fear I will—now that I'm so old. I wonder if God will be as good as he was when I was out-of-doors. Sometimes I'm afraid, Debby."

"Nonsense, Patience, come to bed. I've got to get up early to take that butter to the city."

That night, in her room, Patience looked again at the stars before sleeping. She thought perhaps they might be people's souls shining their adoration at the feet of God. She prayed that she might never be like Deborah.

The next night, in the sitting room with its bright carpet and tidied chairs, Patience sat, rocking peacefully, her hands folded in her lap. Deborah, seated stiffly in a straight backed chair was virtuously knitting.

Patience spoke. "Debby, did you see lots of people you knew today?"

"Yes, I saw Tom Judd's wife and she's just as foolish as ever. She bought eight pounds of pork roast and asked the clerk if it was to boil or fry. And then I saw Lem Johnson too. His baby just died and he was feeling bad about it. Land sakes, Patience Lindsay, if you aren't sniffing again. What's the trouble now?"

"Oh, Debby, I was all alone today and I got to thinking how I wish we could have a little girl to stay with us. Do you suppose Rose would let me teach Marcia how to cook, when she's big enough?"

"Patience, now don't start that foolishness again tonight. I've something nice to tell you. I've invited some company to come and see us."

"I hope it isn't the man who tried to sell us some shares in his orange grove in Florida or the one who tried to make us think the end of the world was coming last August."

"Well, I guess you'll be surprised when you hear. It's a girl I met on the train. Her name's Lucy Mitchell. She looks awfully young but she's been married two years. Her husband's in the pool business — whatever that may be. He has pneumonia now and I'm not surprised, being in the water all the time as he must be. I told her where we live and she's coming some Sunday. She'll let us know and she'll come from the train with Michael, on the milk-wagon."

"I hope she will but I don't think she will just the same. Oh dear, Debby, sometimes people and things seem so hateful and God seems so far off when I'm in the house. What is the matter with me?"

"You forget your blessings, Patience. Just think of poor old Deacon Tubbs."

"Yes, I suppose I can be thankful I've never been murdered on the way home from church, as he was."

"Patience Lindsay, I don't wonder you're afraid to die. Sometimes I think you're going blind just as a punishment for your wickedness."

Patience got up and hobbled to the kitchen windows and looked, through her tears, at the stars.

Deborah rose hesitatingly, put away her knitting and went to the big cloth basket where she fumbled with the patch-work.

Patience hobbled back. "I'm sorry, Debby."

They kissed. After all, they were sisters and loved each other.

* * * * *

Summer passed but Deborah's visitor never came.

One cold fall evening when the sisters were sitting together, Deborah serving and Patience looking out of the window, deep in thought, a knock was heard.

They look up, startled, but before either could rise the door opened and a strange woman, carrying a bundle, walked in.

"I'm Mildred Wilkes from the Garfield Hospital," she said. "A young woman, by the name of Lucy Mitchell, came there last week. She said her husband was dead and she had no friends. She died Sunday morning leaving his baby girl. She wanted you to have her. She said Miss Lindsay was the only person in the world who had ever been kind to her. Do you want to keep her or shall I make arrangements for her to be put in an asylum?"

Patience held out her arms and in them, the nurse placed the bundle. Patience looked, then huddled her close.

"Oh, Debby, God sent her to me for he knew that before long. I can't see his stars any more. I shall name her Rachel and when she's older I'll tell her about God's stars. She'll love them too."

Deborah pursed her lips and said nothing but her eyes looked suspiciously damp. Brusquely she motioned for Miss Wilkes to come with her to the next room.

As they were talking matters over and deciding that the sisters should keep the baby there came, from the kitchen, the creak of unaccustomed rockers and Patience's tremulous old voice contentedly crooning,

"He leadeth me! Oh blessed thought!
Oh words with heav'nly comfort fraught!
Whate'er I do; where'er I be Still 'tis God's hand that leadeth me."

Dreams

A DREAM! A worthless thing,
Distorted fancy, action of a mind
Off guard, the lingering
Of thoughts in memory, cast off—left behind.

Yes, such are dreams!
At night, I seek repose
By quiet darkness, guarded—wrapped about.
My tired eyelids close,
And now there is no longer left a doubt!
My dreams are real.
Pageants in endless line
Unroll before believing, faith-full eyes.
A shining dream-life mine,
Unbounded by repression of the wise.
I live my dreams.
And then, my gorgeous dreams
Are mixed with thoughts of an awakened mind.
Misgivings—doubts! In, streams
My flooding reason through an opened blind.
What, then, are dreams?

Sophistication

With apologies to Mary C. Davies

ONCE I was a "First-year".
How did it feel?
I can't remember how—
Once I was a "First-year"—
Oh, callow "First-years"!
I'm a "Second-year" now.

Francis Beane, '30.

Of Thought

THOUGHT was dancing her life away,
When, of a sudden, one bright day,
She stopped before a pool.
Enrapt, she stood, transfigured—dazed,
Eyes wide-spread, with wonder much amazed!
The words she spoke, "I've been a fool."
Echoed and thundered o'er the land.

And were jealously copied by every hand.
For Thought, on many had played a trick;
And had enhanced the Fancy dear
To roam with her o'er many a drear
Woodland, meadow, and creek.
But now she stood before the glass,
Revealing to all, who chanced to pass,
The true reflection of a spotless soul,
Stripped of the ugly raiment—Evil!
She vowed this blessed word: "I will
Be pure and through the whole
Of my life endeavor to appease
Each craving hunger and to ease
Every far-searching heart."

That Second Gorham Game

At ten o'clock in Merrill Hall
Joe Roy sat dreaming of the hour,
When Gorham Normal's sturdy five
Should crumble 'neath his power.
For once had Gorham bowed her head
To Joie's lusty band,
"This game to-night," quoth he, "should bring Another cup to hand."
The hours passed on, he 'ranged his crew,
They travelled Gorham bound;
Before the game that very night,
He called the boys around.
"You know that old Bozzaris guy,"
He cried, his eyes flashed bright;
"He threw those Greeks a heavy line,
Remember it to-night.
Shoot—till the score mounts higher and higher,
Shoot—till the last green foe expire,
Shoot—till the baskets catch on fire,
That cup is ours by right."
The battle raged, the whistles blew,
With cheers the ceiling rung.
They fought like brave men strong and true,
And valorous deeds were done.
An hour passed by, Joe Roy awoke,
A sad, sad man was he,
His one bright dream gone up in smoke!
A Gorham victory!

The moral of our little tale
Is, someone's got to win!
And if it be the Gorhamites,
We'll take it with a grin.
Another year is rolling 'round
And listen to us, Gorham;
When basketballs begin to bound,
If scores are scored, we'll score 'em.

Napoleon Bonaparte

CAST OF CHARACTERS

Josephine de la Pagerie
 Madame de la Pagerie
 Negro Prophet
 Napoleon Bonaparte
 Servant
 Messenger Boy

Act I Takes place about 1778
 Act II Takes place about 1794
 Act III Takes place about 1797
 Act IV Takes place about 1810
 Act V Takes place about 1816

Written after reading L. Mulbach's historical novel of the Empress Josephine.

ACT I

Scene 1

In a disreputable hovel

(Enter) M. de la Pagerie and Josephine.

M. de la Pagerie: Come, my child, let us consult the aged prophetess that she may tell us what is in store for my beloved daughter.

Josephine (drawing back): Ah no! The place is dark and gruesome. (An old hag enters from back.) The woman is ugly and dirty—I am afraid. Let us leave this horrid place!

M. D. L. P.: Oh, no, my dear, she will never harm you. She will tell you much, she can read your stars. Come, let us go in. (They enter and seat themselves in front of the hag.)

Prophetess: I will ask the Gods—they will not fail to tell all—all, perhaps too much. (Peers into the girl's face.) In the face I see lofty, supreme happiness, a chance to achieve greatness—Ah! a call to higher destinies to a position where she will o'er look all France. (To child) You will live glorious, brilliant days. Ah—but in our hand I see evil, unhappiness, despondency, disgrace. Misfortune will come and carry you to your grave in a day of rebellion. The Gods bestow their gifts upon you, but you must pay. (The girl utters a cry and draws back.)

M. D. L. P.: It is enough—you senseless hag! The child is afraid—Come.

Exit (The hag sits gazing at the ball.)
 (Curtain)

ACT II

Scene 1

The drawing room of Viscountess of Beauhannais

(The Vis. is reclining on a lounge in one corner.)

(Enter, servant) General Napoleon Bonaparte.

(Napoleon enters walking rapidly toward V. and bows.) Good evening, Madame.

Vis.: I perceive, General, that you are sorry it was your duty to fill Paris once more with blood and horror. You would undoubtedly have preferred not to be obliged to carry out the bloody orders of the afrightened Convention.

Bonaparte: That is very impossible but what do you expect, Madame? We military men are but the pendulum which the government sets in motion. Nearly all my cannon were loaded only with powder. The fire of grape shot from my guns quickly dispersed the mob. The whole affair was nothing but the impress of my seal upon France. I wanted to give the Parisians a little lesson.

Vis. (with anger): If you must purchase fame at such a price, I would sooner you were one of the victims.

Nap. (pacing in front of her, turns suddenly): Madame! I have a proposition to make: give me your hand. Be my wife!

Vis. (astonished and a little irritated): Is it a joke which you are indulging in?

Nap. (warmly): I speak in all earnestness. Will you do the honor of giving me your hand?

Vis.: Who knows, I might be inclined to accept your distinguished offer, if unfortunately, Fate stood not in the way of your wishes.

Nap.: Fate?

Vis.: Yes, fate, my general. But let us speak no more of it. It is enough that Fate forbids me to be the wife of Gen. Napoleon Bonaparte.

Nap.: Ah but you cannot turn me away with so evasive an answer. I pray you — explain the meaning of your words.

Vis.: When I was a young girl, a fortune teller predicted my future and thus far her oracular words have been fulfilled. I have been married, transformed from merely Josephine de la Pagerie to the Viscountess de Beauharnais. My marriage has been unhappy. The people oppressed — the revolution — I can see the day. Robespierre and his guillotine — playing havoc — heads rolling from the block, bouncing like gambler's dice. It was on the awful day of St. Bartholomew, Alexander de Beauharnais, my husband went from the Concierge to visit La Guillotine. On that day it worked well. And Marat, Danton, and Robespierre imagined that they were physicians healing France by thus opening her views. The heads have fallen like puppies. You see I have had a sad experience which I cannot soon forget. I think that I could love you. I am sure I trust and respect you. Give me your hand, I will be your wife.

(Curtain)

ACT III

Scene 1

Notre Dame Cathedral — altar lighted — Priests and Pope at altar — soft music.

Enter Napoleon dressed exquisitely in white velvet. At his side, Josephine dressed in silver and gold. The people in the church rise and bow low. They march forward with attendants. They bow at altar while attendants draw to one side. The ceremony takes place — Napoleon crowns himself — showing that church does not rule state. Josephine kneels before him and is crowned. The pope holds out his hands over them and says, "In hoc solio confirme vos Deus, et in regno arterno regnare faciat Christus. (He then kisses the emperor on cheek and turns to audience — In a loud voice) Vivat imperator in aeternum." Everyone rises — shouts — "Long live the Emperor! Long live the Empress!" A salute is heard from the Tuilleries and all France knows that the Emperor is crowned. Church empties slowly, shouts, and sounds can be heard in the distance — fainter and fainter. "Long live the Emperor".

Scene 2

In the palace

Josephine and Nap. enter.

Nap.: My love, the prophecy was true. You are greater than a queen — an empress. You hold the highest position in all France — the wife of the great Napoleon. But, my dear, it changes you not at all. You are the same charming woman I loved and married.

Jos.: How proud I am of you, my dear husband, the emperor. (dramatically) Napoleon of France. You are here by your effort alone and your merits well deserve you this place. But you are still my husband. (Embrace)

(Curtain)

ACT IV

At Malmaison — a drawing room

Jos. (sobbing): The prophecy is true — I am surely suffering disgrace and sorrow. I am thrown aside, as a child discards a toy. The great Napoleon (cynically) has forgotten me and forsakes me for Maria Louisa. I pray to God that he may now establish a Napoleonic dynasty for France. It has been five interminable years — and my heart is breaking. There is nothing left — Yet, I still love him. How I wish I could see his son — his son and not mine. I cannot help but feel a little bitter — I must not — He does it for France — his country and mine. (Enter a messenger) A letter, Madame. (Jos.

rushes to him and grasps it eagerly. Reads, silently.) Aloud: This child in concert with our Eugene will secure the happiness of France and mine also.

ACT V

At Elbe Island — St. Helena

Napoleon (sitting beneath the trees) (thoughtfully) (sadly): She is dead. The only woman I ever loved — she who helped me, and loved me as only a woman can. She's — gone, gone! I have broken her heart — killed her as if I had plunged my swod through her. I cast her aside, for ambition, for France. Here I am, desolate, unloved. I have sacrificed everything to the altar of ambition — ambition which brought me nothing. Why, oh why! My heart, too, is broken. I have hurt that which I loved most — and now she is gone. There is nothing left — nothing at all.

The Little House

Yon lies the little house wherein I dwell
A part of me is every cozy nook;
The tiny window whence I pause to look
And marvel at the beauties of the dell.
The blue capped mountain with its rocky fell
Is meeting place for glossy plumaged rook;
Beside my doorway runs a babbling brook;
Its murmur whispers gently, "All is well".
My little house is all in all to me,

'Tis hallowed with the memories of years,
True happiness has reigned within its door.
I pray that when at last 'tis time for me
To pass beyond the realm of human fears
My soul may linger here forevermore.

M. Lucille Small, '30.

Tempus Fugit

THE day is done and night comes on anew;
The golden sun and earth in quiet rest,
And all the joys of day which have been best,
Are gone forever! bid them sad adieu.
Another day has passed into that deep
Mysterious land of time forever gone;
The thought of which would be but more forlorn
Were it not blanketed by peaceful sleep.
Oh time! why flee thee thus so fast away?
We have too little time to learn, my friend,
Yet too much time in which we may forget.
Why haste upon us yet another day?
For lo! the morning brings but night again.
And night but more time to regret.

Marion Sessions, '30.

Vespers

THE sun had set. Above the distant hill rose the moon, softly gliding its way upward until it reached a commanding height in the heavens. Here and there the sky was dotted with tiny stars, set like jewels in the vast background. In the distance stood a lone pine tree, its form outlined clearly against the horizon.
Beneath, lay the town where all was peaceful and still. Here and there a bright light gave forth its dazzling brilliancy, while smoke curled lazily from the chimneys.

Modern Authors' Club

UNDER the efficient leadership of Miss Virginia Porter, our Modern Authors' Club is nearing the close of its fourth year. The success which this organization has realized through these years has been entirely due to the untiring and enthusiastic efforts of our gifted leader who has endeavored to create in us a love and appreciation of all that is fine in modern literature. And indeed, upon considering the fact that the world of today has seemingly gone "bookish" and consequently that an infinite number and variety of books has been placed at our disposal, one would readily conclude that to indicate the choice of such a mass would be no slight task.

Our work this year has been centered around an informal study of the novel, short story, poetry and drama of today. Reviews and readings of these given by our members have proved most delightful.

To our ever-growing book corner we have added Rolvaag's splendid "Giants of the Earth". Placing stock in the old adage—"Every little helps", we are confident that some day soon, our ambitions for having a real library instead of a corner will be realized. Although it is doubtful if even an extensive library could mean a source of greater enjoyment than our book corner has proved this year.

Aside from its inter-member activities the club also sponsors, each year, the donation of two prizes. One is awarded for that selection of prose and one for that selection of poetry which has been entered in the literary columns of the year book and which the club deems to have the best literary merit. This program has proved conducive to inspire the best of creative work among our students.

The officers of the club for this year were:

Pres., Pauline Douglas.
 Vice Pres., Faith Cony.
 Sec. and Treas., Rosine Mongillo.
 Chr. Membership Committee, Edna Page.
 Chr. Program Committee, Hildegard Rogers.

"Need any help?"

More Jokes

Jimmy Bernadini: "That last run of yours was great. I hear you broke your previous record."

Mickalide: "Yes, by four seconds, two ribs, and a leg."

Snell: "Myron, why are you wearing your glasses in bed?"

Starbird: "I'm getting so near-sighted I can't recognize the people I dream about."

And then there is the absent-minded gentleman who put his pajamas to bed and threw himself down the laundry-chute.

Landlady (knocking at Henderson's bedroom door): "Eight o'clock! Eight o'clock!"

Juicy (sleepily): "Did you? Better call a doctor."

Progress

Freshman: "I don't know."

Soph.: "I am not prepared!"

Junior: "I don't exactly remember!"

Senior: "I don't believe I can add any constructive ideas to what has already been said!"

Phoebe Burr: "I'm a little stiff from bowling."

Don Macauley: "I don't care where you're from."

Ted Thurlow: "I'll count the days until I see you again."

Bus Spelman: "Well I hope you have a good head for figures."

Miss Hill: "Despise not the lowly, the underjaw does all the work."

Through the courtesy of the Hollywood producers we dedicate the following movies:

It's a Great Life — Exam week.

Dot Carter: "You've heard the 'Egg Spots on Your Tie' song?"

Edna Adams: "Finish the joke, I never guess them."

Dot: "Button Up Your Overcoat."

His Omnipotent Presence

When silence the large room possesses
And all are bent over their books,
Of a sudden there falls on the ear drum,
Loud laughter, accompanied by "looks!"

And then panic, in great waves, enfolds us,
And we tremble with laughter and fear,
All ready to be ground to mere sawdust
When the sound of a sprung latch we hear.

We glance in the office location
And directly before our fixed gaze
Stands the well-known figure of a man
Who, by nothing in life can be fazed.

One look in itself is sufficient,
And before him we meekly succumb,
And resume the lure of our text-books
Which, in truth are too wholly "hum-drum!"
Barnaby, '31.

Susie Frost: "I used to snore so loudly that I'd wake myself up but I've cured myself."

Opal: "How?"

Susie: "I sleep in the next room."

Gorham Coach: "Why did Mr. Roy take Peddie out of the game?"

Spectator: "The cameraman claimed he didn't photograph well."

Dud Ingalls to Kay Hctor: "Who is the best-looking boy in Farmington State Normal and why am I?"

Mr. Roy to Mr. Fenwick in the corner: "What does al. stand for?"

Fen (dreamily): "Alphenia."

A. Townsend: "Your face isn't dirty, but I don't know about your imagination."

Mr. Mallett: "You missed my class yesterday, didn't you?"

McNeil: "Not in the least, sir, not in the least."

Addie: "Did you take a bath this morning?"

Betty: "No, did you miss one?"

Libby advertises for sale: A violin, by a young man in good condition except a loose ply in the head.

Miss Porter: "Mr. McLaughlin, how would you punctuate this sentence, 'The wind blew a ten dollar bill around the corner'?"

Mac: "I would make a dash after the ten dollar bill!"

Russell, Starbird and Studley were out walking one morning when they chanced to meet an old man with a long flowing beard. Deciding to have some fun at the old man's expense they accosted him in the following manner:

Studley: "Good morning, Father Abraham."

Russell: "Good morning, Father Isaiah."

Starbird: "Good morning, Father Jacob."

The old man looked surprised at first but with a knowing smile he answered: "I am neither Abraham, Jacob, or Isaiah but I am Saul, son of Kish, out hunting for my father's asses and lo! I have found them!"

Ruth LaSan: "Why are some women called Amazons?"

Kitty Haskell: "Because they are so wide at the mouth."

Lu Leavitt: "That car of mine is sure fast. She could travel a mile a minute if it wasn't for one thing."

Casey Lufkin: "What's that?"

Lu: "The distance is too long for the shortness of the time."

Mutt Scott: "The photographers never do me justice!"

Gregoire (sweetly): "You want mercy, not justice dear."

Mr. Ingalls: "May I sit on your right hand at dinner?"

Miss Hill: "I may need it to eat with, but you may hold it a while."

Kay Hector: "Don't bring me any more of that horrid milk, it is positively blue."

Fenwick, who had become a farmer:
 "It ain't our fault, lady. It's these long, dull evenings as makes the cows so depressed."

With Apologies to Kipling

If you can keep your money when all about you
 Are losing theirs and blaming it on you;
 If you can trust yourself when teachers doubt
 you,
 But make allowance for their doubting too;
 If you can stay here and not be tired of staying.
 Or, getting homesick, don't be that way,
 Or being tempted, don't give way to tempting,
 And yet don't have too much to say.

If you can ask for week-end permissions
 Without trembling with fear;

If you can read the book of rules and regulations

In the two whole years you're here;
 If you can meet with examination and disaster
 And greet these two imposters with a cheer;
 If you can bear to hear your name in chapel
 Spoken by lips to make you known afar,
 Or wait in agony 'til you'll be asked to sing
 do, re, me, fa, sol, la.

If you can learn the names of all the trees and birdies,
 And know the difference between an aboe and a tin pan,
 And can show a lot of manifestation,
 And never breathe except from the diaphragm;
 If you can force yourself to eat three prunes
 each morning,

For they will be served long after you are gone,
 And can get the dirt all off you bath-tub
 Except the ring which says "Stay-ON!"

If you can dance and keep your virtue,
 Or walk with Abbott boys nor lose the common touch,

If neither matrons nor loving teachers can hurt
 you,

If all men count with you, but not too much;
 If you can make it from the fair grounds
 Before the bell rings the hour of ten,
 Yours is the Normal School and everything that's in it.

And what is more — you'll graduate my friend!
 Townsend, '30.

Perkins to waiter in restaurant (on basketball trip): "What is the name of the piece the orchestra is now playing?"

Waiter: "Go Feather Your Nest."

Perkins: "Go fry your neck! I asked you a civil question."

V. Fifield: "My brakes won't work. Would you mind dragging your foot along the pavement a little?"

Dot: "In what course do you expect to graduate?"

Briggs: "In the course of time, I guess."

Jerry Morrison (at baseball game):
 "Oh look, we have a man on every base."

Faith Cony: "That's nothing, so has the other team."

Vacation Chant

Oh, it's home again and home again
 My home town for me;
 I want a train that's homeward bound
 That's where I long to be.
 In that blessed land of sleep enough
 Beyond the school room bars,
 Where the air is full of freedom
 And I may ride in cars.

Blackmore, '30.

Lucille Small: "Do you feel like a cup of tea?"

Maddy Lord: "Course not! Do I look like one?"

Pete Gattrell: "This is my fire wagon."

She: "Your fire wagon?"

Pete: "Yeah, I take all my flames riding in it."

Mr. Mallett: "Are you using crib notes in this examination?"

Fenlason: "No sir, I'm copying out of the text."

Mr. Mallett: "Oh, I beg your pardon."

An English Lullaby

Say the poem so softly,
 Pitch your voices sweet and low;
 For it's slumber time for Arthur
 And he needs the rest I know.

Two Bold Knights

There once was in this Normal School
 Two men of greatest zeal,
 The one was Douglas Barker,
 The other Harry McNeil.

They knew two lasses far away
 As many lovers do,
 But when these lads to school did come
 They swore they would be true.

Now "Doug" and, "Mac" thot they would like
 To learn to cook and sew
 And so with lace and spice they said,
 "To the cottage we will go."

They found two charming teachers,
 The best ones in the state,
 Little Mary taught the sewing
 While Doty made the cake.

Now Douglas liked to stitch the best
 While Harry liked to bake.
 The rest our histories now have claimed
 So I will not relate.

Four score years have now gone by
 For lads who would be true,
 For lasses who lived far away,
 Have faded from the view.

Two youths are now two baches
 As their ages will reveal,
 The one is Douglas Barker,
 The other, Harry McNeil.

Townsend, '30.

Louis Webber: "Here's two dollars on account."

Don Macouley: "On account of what?"

Webber: "On account of that's all I got."

Uncle: "I hear you made the basketball team at school."

Bernadini (modestly): "Well, the other boys helped a little."

Dud Ingalls in health class: "I've just been reading these statistics and it says that every time I draw a breath a man dies."

Miss Johansen: "F'evens sakes, why don't you use Listerine?"

Exam Slogan

"And what is writ, is writ
 Would it were worthier."

Revised Motto

Failures are to the heroic minds
 The first steps of success
 So why be blue or make repine
 When you flunk out a test?
 Just grin and snap your fingers
 And start at it once more
 For failure cannot linger
 If you sweep it out the door.

Greg: "I always say what I think."

Betty (sweetly): "Is that why you've been so quiet all evening?"

Ann: "I wonder what part of a pig the chops come from?"

Stevens: "Pooh! I know that. Haven't you ever heard of animals licking their chops?"

An English Student's Psalm

Miss Porter is our teacher; we shall not want another. She maketh us to study hard lessons; she leadeth us through the pages of our English; she bringeth us knowledge for our diploma's sake. Yea, though we walk into the class room, we shall fear no hundreds; for she is with us. Her questions discomfort us. She prepareth an examination before us in the presence of our ignorance. She annoints our papers with red marks. Our grade runneth low. Surely ignorance and failure shall follow us all the days of our lives and we shall dwell in F. S. N. S. forever.

Adapted.

G. Haggerman: "What gave you such a bad cold, Bob?"

B. Higgins: "Drinking out of a damp tumbler."

E. Grosse: "This mountainside is very hard to climb, can't we get a donkey?"

D. Macauley: "Am I not here? Lean on my shoulder."

Miss Mantor: "Do you think the radio will take the place of the country newspaper?"

Dot Park: "I doubt it. You can't swat a fly with a radio set."

Marg Holbrook: "Something mannish in a hat, please."

Clerk: "Here's the very thing!"

Marg: "But it isn't mannish enough."

Clerk: "But that's a man's hat, madam."

Father (reading school report): "History — D; Arithmetic — D; Hygiene —
 D; Sociology — D; Methods — D!
 What is the meaning of this, Edna?"

E. Ambrose: "I can't understand it,
 Dad. Do you think it might be forgery?"

Pedie Luce: "I raise wonderful strawberries."

Peggy Flint: "Are they really good?"

Pedie: "Absolutely the best, luscious, large and juicy fruit."

Peg: "Do you put fertilizer on them?"

Pedie: "No, just cream and sugar."

"To be or not to be, that is the question."

What would we have done these long four years without Mil and all of her watchful care? We have decided that she is a light sleeper for she often plays the part of "Jack-in-the-Box". However, if she doesn't sleep well she does half hour hikes well and soon will be walking at a rate which cannot be beaten. We wish you great success out in the "field".

"Up! Up! my friend, and quit your books, Why all this toil and trouble?"

Spare us a little of your time, Polly! You are just the person we need to put this across cleverly—with your scheming and your dreaming and your poetic feeling. We have always found you a most willing and helpful classmate, even if you do contend that there is NEVER any hurry. We are sure that success awaits you just around the corner.

"You can't judge a book by its covers."

One might judge Joe couldn't make a noise or get into mischief, but take it from us who know—she can and does. We were glad to have you come back to join our class. You were so calm and industrious the first half year we wondered—but now the "Sailor" has come home, our queries are answered. We don't blame you for life on an ocean wave is exciting and we hope you continue to ride on the crest of the wave.

"Live to Love."

Smile for us, Helen, as we love to see you when you do. "Oh! for a custard pie, girls, they are so good!" Did we like Helen as House President? We'll say we did, for she radiated cheer when she was around. Those frequent letters from Hebron did much to "Win" our Helen from being so forgetful. Every member of your class joins in wishing you success and happiness in whatever you undertake.

Fast and the world goes by."*

Helen is a true friend to all. She is faithful and conscientious about everything from writing letters to making "Brownies". If she tires of her present profession we suggest that she take up secretarial work since she has had much practice in taking notes. We know she'll be successful no matter where she is.

"To know her is to love her."

How we have enjoyed this "WIN" some lass these four years! Vi's Scotch customs and dish breaking have proved a source of amusement to us all, but the good Scotch sense of humor was always present. Vi's good cooking will surely WIN some man—soon we think. She is one of those dependable souls who always does her work cheerfully and well. As house president she couldn't be beaten. Best of success always, Vi.

Never mind, Elouise, your sudden sallies of dry wit are much enjoyed whatever the occasion. We have appreciated your friendship these four years and wish you the best of success during your brief sojourn "in the field". Please keep all our names on your mailing list for wedding invitations.

The Legend of the Class of 1930

BY the shores of Sandy River,
At the end of Central Maine's road,
Farmington, a lovely town, stands.
There, is found the school called Normal,
There, in twenty-six, we Freshmen,
Seeking knowledge and attainment,
Came; and fourteen was our number.
Oh, the first meal that we ate there!
Oh, the tumult and confusion!
Oh, the shouting and the laughter!
Oh, the frightened looks and glances!
Pined we for our doting parents.
Know ye of that awful sickness?
Quickly, new friends helped dispel it.
Very soon we grew familiar
With the customs and the usage.
We survived initiation.
We respected all the Juniors,
Bowed in lowliness before them,
As was due unto their station.
Much we sorrowed for Miss Palmer,
Yet adored that other, Gilkey.
Heeded we Miss Wicke's teaching.
Yes, we studied and we played some,
Built new fires every morning.
Dot annexed that manly Vanner,
Bee excelled in all her subjects.
Thrilled we were by each occasion,
All school functions—the mock wedding,
Then that picnic on the Sandy.
There, we entertained our teachers,
Hurled we Chem. books in the river.
Thus, did pass the fearful first year.

Soph'mores we returned the next year.
Then, we threw aside our meekness,
And did force the timid Freshmen
To assume our former burdens.
Bow they must to mighty Seniors!
Made we sandwiches and sold them,
Labored on the Christmas boxes,
Ardently we courted Leo.
Each earned fifty cents for his sake,
And by means most strange and eerie.
Flocked we to a buffet luncheon
Served by Seniors, kind and gracious.
Mourned by all, Dot Brown departed.
Saw we, then, a diamond sparkle
And from Eoluisse, herself, learned
That her heart was now another's.
In the spring that Cascade picnic,
There, we made the resolutions.
Honored we the tyrant, Howard
With a picnic and may-basket,
Though on samplers hard we labored,
Oh, the tedious notes she gave us!
In response to our bidding

Seniors graced a garden party,
Rain poured down on that occasion.
Luncheon served we in the Cottage.
Then, we saw the stately Seniors
Pace the aisle with haughty heads high,
First degrees from Normal won they.
Thus, the second year was ended.

Yea, a busy one the third year,
Hazel came not back among us,
Lucy, too, we missed them greatly.
Velma came to share our labors,
Arline, also made we welcome.
Owe we much to these two sages.
Herded were we then in Card Hall,
Where we bowed our heads to Freda,
There we talked and never studied;
Quick we asked our Freshmen sisters
To a party, made fine fudge there,
Got acquainted, learned to love them;
There, we launched that frightful "Cyclone";
There too, fed the cheerful players.
Dined we once again the Seniors,
Day by day prepared the School Lunch,
Worked most hard to give a Tea Dance.
With our Freshmen sisters ate we,
Each our pickle and our sugar,
Made of maple in the Springtime.
Tribute oft we paid to Heather,
Furnished actors for the playlet.
Oh, that "Pepp" and "Buttonbuster"!
Next we rode on hobby horses,
Built play-houses, learned to count then,
For the pleasure of our charges,
Those pre-schoolers seeking knowledge.
Clinics two we gave for mothers,
Doctors—Leonard, Foster, Austin.
Read we, read we, oh, what volumes!
Every child a problem-child is,
Suffered we with vaccinations,
Painful, too, our formal dinners;
Elouise's complaint grew louder,
To a doctor went she quickly,
And with tonsils gladly parted.
Freshmen sisters us remembered
By a party on the Saints' Day,
Sophomores were guests at sunrise
At our breakfast in the forest.
Guests we were of Soph'mores, later;
In the garden, was the party,
Rain descended not upon us.
Then we Juniors went one week-end
To that pond which men call, Watson's
There, we slept, and ate, and slept more,
There, we climbed up French's mountain,
There, we fished with Fisher Freda,
There, we rowed and took our sun-baths,
There, we had the Junior Party.

Tea to sixty, we did serve once.
Fixed we, too, the Seniors' luncheon
For that spree which they call Class Day.
And we gave the Senior banquet,
Gave to them, and to their brethren,
Thus, did pass our busy third year.

Stately Seniors we, this fourth year
Foremost stand we in importance
We the fêted, we the honored,
Much we glory in our prestige.
Great our pride was, on those first days,
Greater will it be commencement,
When sedately, press we forward
Smilingly, to get diplomas.
Dinty, came to share this honor,
Fossett, also, sought a sheepskin,
So our number now is fifteen.
But we clansmen were divided,
To the cottage half cavorted,
Palmer Hall, the rest did shelter.
Loved we Tabbutt! Could we help it?
Mr. Gates and Mrs. Mossie.
Sad was parting with Miss Palmer.
Slavish worship gave we Joyce,
Waked at midnight — still we loved her!
Courtied her with many favors.
At the Cottage reigned confusion,
Months and months the builders labored,
Dining room at last completing;
Celebrated we Thanksgiving.
Ere that time, we did proclaim it
Open house, one night, at Palmer.
Some did struggle practice teaching,
Some in keeping house did revel.
Homesick Freshmen, early cheered we;
Entertained we all our friends then,
Mothers, ministers, and teachers,
Brothers, not our own, however.
Abodeen, and Hawes we sought him,
But he came not to our festing.
Jonah ever, was our courser,
Oft we had to stop and feed him.
Once our Mossie, she did leave us,
In the hospital to sojourn
For a long time. Fared she well there.
Parke seduced by its allurements
Tarried there, though very briefly.
Furber then to gain distinction,
Hied her to a greater city.
There she had an operation.
Had her tonsils amputated.
Violet now, a diamond sported.
At the ending of the half year,
Our abode, then, changed to Palmer,
To the Cottage came the others;
New ones had their practice teaching,
New ones reveled, giving dinners.
Tea was served and much enjoyed.

Fêted we the Sophs and Freshmen.
Juniors took us on a sleigh ride,
Then with cocoa warmly fed us,
Joyful was the whole occasion.
Class day soon will be upon us,
Next we will be graduated,
And the good times here so ended.
Thus, our fourth year swiftly passes.
Pauline Douglas, '30.

My Diary 1940

June 17 —

Just ten years ago to-day the graduating class of Farmington Home Economics Department was marching proudly to Music Hall where we received our long coveted degrees. That day we wondered what each would be doing in ten years, and agreed to start a "Round Robin" letter on June 17, 1940.

June 18 —

Got my first letter. Of course she would be the one who was right on time just as she was in school. Any of our classmates would know it was Bee Mower. She writes from New Jersey but writes more about Wilton, Maine, than about New Jersey. Oh yes, to be sure, Bee always was interested in that town. She says it has grown to be a thriving city of industry and I should judge from her letter that the garage business was thriving, too. Now that's queer, everyone of us at Farmington were sure that Bee would be one of the first to marry from our class. She and that tall, good-looking chap from Wilton were so attentive! However, she says that she expects to teach two years more and then settle down in Wilton. Well, here's wishing her well in teaching and also in married life.

June 19 —

That letter from Bee yesterday brought back so many memories of the old days that I had to get out all my pictures and books of Farmington and look them over. There were pictures of our picnics — grand old times down by the Sandy River.

And the teachers, they look so natural. I could just hear Miss Lockwood's laugh and jolly words to all the girls.

June 20 —

This afternoon I had the pleasure of entertaining Dorothy Russell, recently returned from Europe. She always said she would sometime cross the puddle, didn't she? Dottie broke the news to me that she is soon to become Duchess Flatwallet, having met her fiance during her travels. They plan to be married in a few weeks and will then settle down at Bean's Corner where the Duke will run a cabbage farm.

June 21 —

Dot Gammon was next to be heard from and what a surprise! We all expected to see her in some gown shop or Paris hat shoppe in New York, but imagine it, she has become editor of the Snappy Stories Magazine and is giving other people some of the many thrills she so often experienced during our school days.

June 22 —

This morning I had a great surprise when I answered the doorbell and there before me stood Mary Ramsdell. Mary was on her way to a House Party at Bowdoin for in spite of the fleeting years she has kept up a lasting affection for that institution. Mary is another one of our fortunate members who has had the privilege of a trip to Europe. She is now wearing a diamond and in answer to my inquiries tells me she met the "one and only" over there and in December will become Lady Often-broke. To think our former class has had a Duchess and a Lady in its midst! But I forgot to say how much more portly Mary is now than when she was at F. S. N. S. She weighs 225 lbs. (the ice cream having at last taken effect). During the year previous to her sea trip she traveled through the states with Ringley Bros. Circus.

June 23 —

Met Mildred Blewitt in Boston to-day as she was hurrying along with a dozen parcels under her arms and a worried look on her face. I dislocated her packages during our greeting, but the worried look left her face and she smiled the old smile we knew so well at Farmington. On inquiry I found Mildred was Supt. of an Orphans' Home in Stoneham, Mass. I was quite surprised to find her in this type of work until I remembered she proved to be a born nurse in the Practice Home. That worried look meant motherly concern for 113 little orphans. Long ago I had lost track of Madeline Fossett and Velma Jewett but Mildred knew all about them and proceeded to tell me.

She drew a clipping from her bag and there I found a picture of Madeline and an article speaking very highly of her work in teaching Home Economics among the children of the mining district in Penna. She looks just the part of a "Maiden lady" school marm with her hair drawn tightly back from her forehead into a pug behind and her dark-rimmed spectacles resting on the bridge of her nose. Velma is not married yet. Her search for a man has been fruitless and now, in order to save other lonely people from her sad fate, she is heading a Matrimonial Bureau for all graduates of State Normal Schools.

The other day while looking at the children's section of the Youth's Companion I found a large picture and a write-up about the editor of that section, Pauline Douglas. I was glad to hear something of my old schoolday pal. Here she is writing all kinds of poems and jingles for the kiddies. What's this? During her spare time she gives lessons in Voice Culture! She has kept so faithfully to her Ho-ing that she has become a master of the art and now imparts it to other stumbling tongues.

June 25 —

When we entered the exhibition hall at the county fair I heard a voice which sounded very familiar. It brought back memories of the old Normal school days for I recognized it to be that of Elouise Shibles. There she was standing on a soap box giving a speech on "The Value of Fresh Air in Modern Life"! It was extremely interesting so we stayed on until the end, and then snatched a few minutes of her time to chat. She said that as soon as she made her fortune she was going to take up Aviation. Elouise spoke of stopping off at Fairbanks where she visited Arline Pinkham who is now Mrs. Lydia Tanlac, Ph.D. Arline is now an instructor in Child Care at Fairbanks University and seems to be doing excellent work. During the summer months she travels throughout the state as agent for "Non-scratching all wool undergarments".

June 26 —

This afternoon while shopping I met our old friend, Dinty Furlong. She has been very faithfully keeping to her diet which she started ten years ago and do you know she has lost $\frac{3}{4}$ of a pound!? You remember it was always Hazel's desire to become an Osteopath, — well her dream has come true for now she has her own establishment in Leeds Junction. Her latest hobby is caring for indisposed cats and dogs.

June 27 —

On a motor trip toward Moosehead Lake we stopped at a very attractive tea room just outside of Guilford. We seated ourselves at a table and glancing up to give our order were surprised to see Violet McSorley(?) neat and fresh in her crisp uniform just as she looked in the kitchen at the Cottage. Violet married a year after graduation and now has two young daughters who bring her much joy.

June 28 —

This morning I received a letter from Helen McDonough, the girl in our class whose weaknesses while at school were ministers and First Nationalists. Well, Helen is now a full-fledged writer. Her latest book, "The Art of Dieting," is to be published next month and is to be introduced as a textbook at Farmington College in the Home Economics Department. Helen is also author of a series of articles that are running in the Crowley's Junction Special.

June 29 —

This morning's mail brought a nice long letter from Doris Parke. During her Senior year at Farmington she seemed particularly interested in Anthropology and what do you suppose? She has continued that study at Leavitt Institute, Turner, Maine, and now is a full fledged Anthropologist. At present she is doing research work in Derby, Maine. Her latest publication, "New Facts of the Pithecanthropus Erectus," is attracting world wide attention.

June 30 —

Not having heard from Helen Furber and being anxious to make my records of the class complete this month, I called her to-day and reminded her of her promise. I find her living on a farm outside of New Sharon where she raises, as a specialty, onions and parsley, which she takes into the village once a week to "batter" away for other edibles which please her delicate taste and which will not yield too much carbohydrate to destroy the much sought sylphlike form.

Soliloquy

A LONG, bumpy ride: a yellow house; seven smiling faces that seemed to say all at the same time: "Where is she?" "Oh! Isn't she sweet!" "Isn't she a dear?" Then milk and sleep. That was on September 18, 1929—six and a half months ago, when first I arrived at the Cottage. Such months! I wonder—are all babies' lives like mine?

First of all there is my family—four grandmothers, fourteen mothers, one uncle, twelve aunts and twenty-eight sisters and not one family resemblance between them! There must be something the matter with the laws of Galton and Mendel.

Then there is my "daily schedule" which my nurse thinks must be "rigorously kept". It tells just what I ought to do and when I ought to do it all through the day! And next there is my "daily dietary" and "weight curve" that my Aunts have planned and recorded. Such discussion of calories, protein, calcium, phosphorus, iron, vitamins, and water content as they have had. Such curves as they have plotted. They look like kites flying straight in the air.

And then — my "physical, mental, social development records" which my Mothers faithfully have kept. (If only my teeth would come through I believe my I. Q. would be 110!)

And my clothes—even those, too, are class: baby bunting, bonnets, rompers, "problems"! My Sisters make them in dresses.

Again and again I hear my Grandmothers say that I "vitalize the Child Development study here".—I wonder just what they mean. It doesn't matter much anyway—I only know that I'm glad, glad, glad I'm here!

Class Will

BE it remembered that the Senior Class of the Home Economics Department of Farmington State Normal School, town of Farmington, county of Franklin, State of Maine, being, "supposedly", of sound mind and memory, and about to depart from our beloved school, do so make, publish and declare this, our last will and testament.

The bequeaths are as follows:

1—To the Faculty we bequeath our loyalty and appreciation.

2—To Peggy Lutz, Elouise Shibles leaves her ability to make breaks in class.

3—To Hazel Patterson, Vi McSorley leaves all of her Scotch customs.

4—To Pat Henderson, Dot Gammon leaves all her thrills and weaknesses for the opposite sex.

5—To Bob Robinson, Helen McDonough leaves her great sense of humor.

6—To Dot Towne, Polly Douglas leaves her curly hair and little feet.

7—To Ellen Hannaford, Mary Ramsdell leaves all her "Primitive men".

8—To Marj Holbrook, Dot Parke leaves her grape dance and monkey act.

9—To Dot Brown, Velma Jewett leaves her athletic ability.

10—To Nora Black, Arline Pinkham leaves her place in reading class.

11—To Helena Purvis, Mildred Blewitt leaves her ability to cook.

12—To Martha Bauman, Dinty Furlong leaves the fat she lost dieting.

13—To Edith Coleman, Bee Mower leaves her ability to get things done.

14—To the Sophomores, we leave our many thanks for the delicious dinners cooked for us during this year.

15—To the Freshmen, we leave all our examples of good behavior and the right to sit with the rest of the Department next year.

16—To Joyce, our practice home baby, we leave our love, tender thoughts, and wishes for a happy future.

17—To anyone who would like them we leave —

1—Our numerous notebooks, outside reading reports and good dispositions.

2—Our thrills of practice teaching.

3—The privilege of using the green cake box. (We feel sure the Junior class will accept this because it has saved so many of their lives.)

4—The motto, "Silence is Golden".

5—The good times around the fireplace.

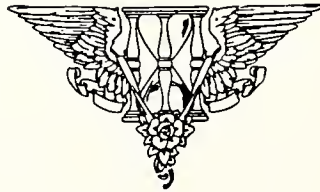

6—Our inspirations and ideals of what a Home Economics girl should be.

18—We do especially leave to all classes the wonderful friendships of Miss Gates and Miss Moss who have made our living in the Practice Home a real pleasure.

And last, we hereby constitute and appoint the president of the class of '31 to be the executrix of this, our last will and testament, in witness whereof we have hereunto set our hand and seal, this seventeenth day of June, one thousand nine hundred and thirty.

The Juniors

HARK! what can that noise be? Is it the fire alarm? Rushing to the door I find an old car coughing and panting, made of parts manufactured in 1914, overflowing with girls; I did not know that one old Ford could hold so many people. That was my first sight of the Juniors and Dot Towne's famous car, "Asthma". Later in the day a few more Juniors arrived until the class numbered twelve happy, fun-loving girls. The third floor was to be their living quarters and they were soon settled and ready for work.

The Juniors are a musical class. Sweet melodies float down from the third floor, sometimes a little discordant when two victrolas are grinding out jazz while a dignified Senior is playing her classical selection on the living room piano. But we encourage musical talent at Palmer Hall.

The first quarter came to a close and poor old "Asthma", having carried the Juniors on many house parties and picnics, breathed her last asthmatic breath and passed out, so the Juniors had to walk where they once so proudly rode.

The first break in the class came when Helen Robinson (Bob) was ill and had to go home but after an absence of a month she returned, much to the joy of her classmates.

The loyal, care-free Juniors have been preparing to take the responsibilities and privileges of the dignified Seniors and I feel sure the Seniors are leaving their class honor in competent hands.

Ella B. Tabbutt.

Home Economics Club

THE Club has held meetings once a month throughout the school year, the first being the fall picnic and initiation of the Freshmen. This was held on the banks of the Sandy River, in West Farmington, and was a jolly affair with the Freshmen dressed to meet Sophomore requirements. Each one felt better acquainted after the supper, stunts and group singing around the campfire and all voted it a wonderful time.

The rest of our meetings were held in South Hall with the exception of one which was held in the Cottage. The programs have included: "An Account of the Work of the Child Welfare Society" by Miss Ridgeway of Augusta; "Experiences of Sea Life," Capt. and Mrs. Mallett; "Things I Found Good to Eat While Abroad," Mr. Mallett; "Experiences during My Trip Abroad," Miss Hill; an International meeting in April; and our final picnic made memorable by Mrs. Ives.

The social events of the club were picnics, a Christmas party, and the Costume Review presented by the Sophomore class. At different meetings new club songs were presented. The Christmas party was a jolly occasion, held in the recreation room at South Hall. About fifteen children were made very happy by the beautiful tree, the games, and gifts distributed by dear old St. Nick. We felt very grateful to the Christian Association for their generosity in helping to make the party such a success.

In order to raise money to carry on the activities of the club, the play, "Just Women", was given May 8. We are very grateful to Miss Hill for her untiring efforts in making this a success. We also presented a movie, "The Hoosier Schoolmaster", in Merrill Hall and at Christmas time we sold many Christmas cards.

Our activities included the sending of a box of clothing to the "Maine Children's Home Society" at Christmas time. The club has kept in touch with Miss Helen Small, who was with us last year, and is now in Turkey. A year's subscription to "The Journal of Home Economics" was sent to her.

We have been very happy to have as guests this year, Mr. and Mrs. Mallett, Mrs. Mantor, Mrs. Allen, Mrs. Kendrick, Mrs. Tabbutt, Miss Greenwood, Mrs. Greenwood, Capt. and Mrs. Mallett, Miss Hill, Miss Johansen, Miss Ridgeway, Miss Stone, Miss Porter, Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Preston, Mrs. Ives, the C. A. Senior Cabinet and Students of the regular department.

Our Club welcomed Miss Richardson to its midst, but deeply missed the presence of Miss Palmer, who, we hope, will be with us again in the near future.

The Club gives us a wonderful opportunity to work together in worthwhile activities and through the efforts of our efficient president and her staff this has been a most successful year.
